OUTLINES.

A woman, one of the leading colored educators in Washington backed by various petitions, requested Secretary Taft yesterday to suspend President Roosevelt's order dismissing without honor three companies of negro troops ——President Roosevelt again inspected the Panama Canal work yesterday and heard complaints from the laborers.——The father of James Taylor, who shot a negro at Pittsburg, offers a reward of $1,000 for his son, as he wants him brought to justice.——The insurance companies composed of 37 States reports from Chicago that it has agreed upon a dozen or more bills to be submitted to State Legislatures and Congress for the regulation of insurance companies; one of the bills prevents political contributions, another protects insurance companies' funds from being squandered by the management, and one regulates solicitors of companies.—In St. Louis yesterday a Federal grand jury returned a true bill against D. P. Dyer, Jr., son of United States District Attorney D. P. Dryer for embezzling $61,500 from the sub-treasury at St. Louis.——Secretary Shaw endorses the plan for an emergency currency agreed upon in Washington the past week by committees of the American Bankers' Association and the New York Chamber of Commerce, and hopes Congress will pass it with every detail.——The directors of the Standard Oil Company have issued a circular to the stockholders, claiming that in the government's fight against it, the company is unassailable from both a lagal and moral standpoint.——Princeton and Yale, at Princton, played a nothing to nothing game of football yesterday, the first tie in 20 years.——New York market: Money on call nominal, no loans, time loans easier; spot cotton steady 11 cents; flour steady; wheat irregular, No. 2 red 79 3-8 elevator; corn steady, No. 2 53 1-2 elevator; oats steady, mixed 39; turpentine firm 70 1-2 to 71; rosin firm, strained common to good 4.25.

—It is not true that President Castro, of Venezuela, is dead. He only dropped out of sight while so many live things came up to distract attention from him during the last several months.

—When you run for a political office tell what you stand for without equivocation, but ggt shy of abusing your constituency. This advice comes too late to be of any benefit to Col. Hearst, of New York.

—Count Boniface de Castellane can blame himself for getting into a position where he will have to stand on the streets with empty pockets and hear money rattle in the pay envelope of the passing throng. It pays to be good even when you haven't got a rich wife who gets so she can't stand for you.

—There is no telling what the honor of being governor of New York is worth. William Randolph Hearst has filed a certificate to the effect that he spent $256,370 in promoting his ambition to be governor. An impecuneous individual would't have much showing in a gubernatorial contest with a man doing his canvassing with a bag of money.

—Mr. Hearst has certified to the Secretary of State of New York that he spent $256,370 in promoting his recent canvass for governor. Of this $198,870 went to the Independent League, $57,000 to the Democratic State committee, and $500 for traveling expenses. It is not stated what Hughes and his Republican managers squandered to stifle the munificent ambition of Hearst.

—The Colored Baptist Convention at Salisbury, N. C., on Thursday adopted resolutions severely censuring President Roosevelt for dismissing three negro companies from the army, and appointed a committee to act in conjunction with other committees from different States in securing a review of the President's order of dismissal by the United States Supreme Court. This action was doubtless taken in accordance with a general movement among the negroes of the United States, as James B. Green, a Washington lawyer, intends bringing suit to have the three dismissed companies reinstated in the army. The action will be based upon the contention that the President's action was unconstitutional.

INJURED IN WRECK

Seventeen Passengers Hurt in Smash-up of Coast Line Train Yesterday.

BOUND TO CHARLESTON

Broken Rail Causes Derailment of Several Coaches Near Leland, N. C., —Skidded Over Small Trestle and Tumbled on Side

Seventeen of thirty-five passengers in the first-class coach of Atlantic Coast Line Passenger Train No. 51, which left the city at 6 o'clock yesterday morning for Charleston, S. C., were more or less injured, none of them seriously, in an ugly wreck, which occurred at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning just this side of Leland station, Brunswick county, eight miles south of Wilmington, on the W. C. & A. railroad. The wreck was caused by a broken rail of the track about two rail lengths this side of a small twelve-foot trestle over which the cars skidded on the crossties, the rear coach tumbling over on its side down a five-foot embankment immediately after crossing the culvert, breaking loose from the remainder of the train. That more of the passengers were not hurt or some of them instantly killed is probably due to the fact that the coach was one of modern construction, steel trucks, and that the train had already slowed down to some extent for the station. According to the official report from the office of Captain W. H. Newell, the superintendent, the injured are:

Captain W. L. Jones, of Wilmington, conductor in charge of the train.

George Catlett, of Wilmington, with the Carolina Trucking Development Company.

H. H. Elliott, of Florence, S. C., traveling auditor of the Atlantic Coast Line.

W. T. Aycock, and P. H. Sears, of Whiteville, N. C., with the Whiteville Lumber Co.

J. D. Youngblood, a traveling man of Atlanta Ga.

H. E. Henderson, of Wilmington.

C. A. Mebane, of Greensboro, N. C., a traveling man.

E. L. Stallings, of Columbia, S. C., a traveling man.

C. R. Speight and Eli Cavanaugh, of Wilmington

Norwood Spicer, of Goldsboro, traveling man.

John Hill Bunting, of Wilmington, a traveling man.

B. J. Applewhite, Chilsen Moss and J. H. Dingelhoef, of Wilmington.

George A. Paine, a traveling man of Chicago, Ill.

In addition to those named E. L. Larkins, Esq., of Burgaw, and Dr. R. L.

DEVELOP A SUBURB

DeRosset Development Company, Wilmington Enterprise, Will Operate In Fayetteville—"Monticello Heights" is Name.

The DeRosset Development Company, of Wilmington, is the name of the new corporation of this city which will develop the suburban settlement on North Haymount, in Fayetteville, a brief mention of which was made in these columns a few days ago. Mr. W. L. DeRosset, Jr., of Wilmington, is manager of the enterprise and it is understood that there is ample capital behind the company to carry out every plan for the development of the property which was purchased last week. Mr. DeRosset says that the company will not only develop the suburb in Fayetteville but that other cities will also be visited and settlements established according to the approved plans that have obtained in this kind of development work in other cities. Mr. DeRosset retires from twenty-six years in the printing business in Wilmington and will move to Fayetteville to make it his home for the present at least. He expects to leave Monday morning and his family will follow him later in the week.

The company has opened offices in Room 1, Lilly Building, in Fayetteville, and the first sale of lots will be held in Fayetteville on Nov. 26th. "Monticello Heights" has been decided on as the name for the new suburb. Mr. DeRosset is full of enthusiasm over the prospect for the establishment of an attractive place of residence in the Upper Cape Fear city and is confident that the venture will be a success.

Mr. John A. Everitt, Jr., of this city, has resigned his position with the merchant tailoring establishement of M. H. Curran, and will leave tomorrow to be associated with Mr. DeRosset in the Fayetteville enterprise. Mr. J. E. Russ, another Wilmingtonian, has also been engaged by the company and will leave this week to be present at the sale and interest prospective purchasers in the property.

FORTY HOURS DEVOTION.

Impressive Services at St. Thomas' Church This Week.

As was noted yesterday the Forty Hours Devotion at St. Thomas church will begin today and the sacred period in the church calendar will be observed by special services by the Bishop and a number of the leading North Carolina Priests.

The services today are: First Mass 7 A. M. Last Mass, sermon, 10:30 A. M. At this service the devotion of the Forty Hours will begin, Rt. Rev. Leo Haid O. S. B. officiating. The Bishop will preach at this Mass and also at the evening service. The choir will render the Kyrie from Zangl Mass and the Gloria, Credo, Sanctus, Benedictus, from St. Hubert's Mass. At this service the priests will chant the Litanies with accompaning psalms. At the vesper service the choir will chant the psalms. Vespers, sermon 7:45 P. M.

On Monday the first Mass at St. Thomas' church will be at 6 A. M. Second Mass at 7 A. M. Last Mass 10 A. M. Service Monday evening 8 P. M. Father Joseph, of Charlotte, preaching.

Tuesday morning First Mass 6 A. M. Last Mass 10 A. M. After these Mass the Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered to a large class by Bishop Haid. The Devotions will close Tuesday evening 8 P. M., the Bishop preaching the closing sermon.

Monday and Tuesday the choir will sing the Psalms from Lejeal Vespers.

MR. JAMES SPRUNT HONORED.

Important Corrections to Coast Chart —Appointed Vice Consul.

Mr. James Sprunt received on yesterday the thanks of the British Government for important corrections made by him to the British Board of Trade, on "Notices to Mariners," which have been amended accordingly.

He was also honored on yesterday by a request to represent the Imperial German Consulate in Wilmington in cases of expediency until further notice, which he has agreed to do. Both are high compliments to Mr. Sprunt. The corrections of the charts referred to are important to Wilmington and the North Carolina Coast.

Another Silk Sale at Povogt's.

Several hundred shoppers attended the Silk Sale at Polvogt's yesterday, but as the sale was for only one hour many customers were unable to get waited on. Tomorrow beginning at 10 o'clock another lot of plain and fancy silks worth 50 to 75 cents, will be put on sale at 33 cents per yard. Bargains like these have never been offered before in this city. **

WOMAN WAS KILLED

Negress Stabbed Early Last Night in Meadow's Alley Near Eleventh and Market

RAN OUT AND FELL DEAD

Frank James, Ex-Convict, Charged With the Killing—Bloodhounds on Trail—Apparently a Cold-Blooded Murder—Excitement.

Bettie Johnson, a middle-aged resident of the disreputable negro district in Meadow's alley, near Eleventh and Market streets, was cut and slashed to death by Frank James, a negro ex-convict, near the mouth of the alley on Eleventh street, last night about 7:30 o'clock. The woman ran from the scene of the affray the distance of half a block and fell dead on a small vacant lot at the southwest corner of the streets. James, alias "Smiley" who is well known to the police succeeded in evading arrest until a few minutes before 12 o'clock last night when he was rounded up by Officers C. G. Jones, I. F. Huggins, John Sneeden and W. M. Harris on the lumber yard of the Cape Fear mill in the northern part of the city. He was lodged in the station house awaiting the action of the coroner's jury, which has been summoned to meet at the Court House this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The murder of the colored woman seems to have been in cold blood and if James escapes with his neck he will be exceedingly fortunate. Certain it is that if the large number of colored men who gathered around the blood-splotched form of the colored woman as it lay in the street last night, had been able to get at the perpetrator of the deed, the court and jury would have been spared a consideration of the case. From all reports that were going at the scene of the crime last night, James lives at the house of the Johnson woman and when he came home last night from the compress where he had been working during the week, he started a row at the house, which is just two doors from the street. The woman ran over to Justice William Sheehan and asked for a warrant for the man for an assault and battery upon her. It is presumed that James stood at the mouth of the alley to see where the woman went for when she came back she was set upon by him with a knife and fearfully slashed, the wound which caused her death probably being a gash just above the collar bone on the right side, severing the jugular and carotid arteries. She was also slashed on the left side of the throat, in the side just above the left hip, a gash about three inches long, entering the abdomen, also just below the left knee and on other parts of the body. It is thought that the exconvict flew into a rage when he saw that the woman had gone to take out a warrant for him and that he went at her with murderous intent. The woman is physically almost as strong as James, and this leads to the belief that after cutting her to some extent, he must have thrown her down and went to hacking her to pieces. The woman ran screaming toward Eleventh street and James made his escape going in a southerly direction, down Eleventh street. The woman fell near the street intersection, made a few gasps and died, blood streaming from her wounds into the street. A large crowd collected and the colored people made open threats that if the officers would stand aside and they could get at him, they would attend to his case.

The report of the murder reached the police station in distorted fashion, it having been stated that two negro men had been shot to death and a colored woman had her throat cut. Officers hurried to the scene and Chief Williams telephoned Constable Savage to bring the bloodhound, the animal having been given his trail from some old clothes that James had just discarded in the house. The dog was slow in becoming interested, but finally took up the trail as far as Castle street, giving indications that the negro had gone by a circuitous route to the other side of town. The police then concentrated their efforts in that section of the city. A colored man whose name would not be given by the police, came to the officers on Fourth street and told of having seen James on the lumber yard. The officers hurried in that neighborhood and in the darkness of the night in the midst of high stacks of lumber, flushed three negroes. Two of them ran and when the police fired on them they returned the fire. Officer Jones managed to lay hold of James, however, but the other two, whose names James refused to disclose, got away. Several shots were exchanged by the negroes and the officers as they ran.

The officers do not think that James knew of the woman's death at the time of his capture as he seemed much disconcerted when told that he was a murderer. He had a large amount of silver money on his person for a laborer and a knife which seemed to bear blood stains. He does not talk of the affair, having been in the courts so much that he is something of a lawyer himself. He only recently returned from a term on the roads of the county.

Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, viewed the remains of the woman soon after death ensued last night and turned them over to the colored undertaker, Alex Davis, for burial. The woman has seeral brothers and a child who has been committed to the keeping of another. Several negroes were locked up in the early part of the night as witnesses, but according to the feeling of the colored people last night, it appears that there will be no effort on their part to conceal the true facts of the crime. The just of inquest will meet at the Court House this afternoon and James will doubtless be committed to jail without bond for the January term of Superior Court. The Johnson woman has also figured conspicuously in the courts, but her murder in such a foul manner last night brought forth regret of all who saw the remains.

A PRETTY MONUMENT

Handsome Memorial to Revolutionary Heroes by Society of Colonial Dames Will be Completed at Third and Market To-morrow.

The handsome monument which the Society of Colonial Dames is erecting at the intersection of Third and Market streets, in this city, in honor of Cornelius Harnett and other Revolutionary heroes of the Cape Fear, will be completed Monday. Delahunty, of Philadelphia, the designer, has been here the past week with a corps of skilled workmen engaged in putting up the monument and enough is already seen to give the impression that it is going to be a very handsome memorial.

The base of the shaft is seven feet square and the height of the entire structure will be thirty feet. The only name that appears on the monument is Cornelius Harnett though other Revolutionary patriots of this section are given handsome recognition in general terms. The monument is of the best Vermont Barre granite and is very pretty. It was finished much sooner than expected and is by all odds the handsomest of the several monuments that Delahunty has erected in Wilmington.

The monument will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies about the first week in January and the Colonial Dames are now arranging for that pleasing event. A North Carolinian, who has achieved a world-wide reputation as a speaker and as a scholar, has been invited to make the address on the occasion and it is believed that he will accept. Until an exceptance is received, no announcement of the name will be made.

To Travel Pacific Slope.

Mr. J. Stevenson Brown, a popular young Wilmingtonian, who has been on the road for several years for a large Chicago hardware house, has resigned his position with that firm and leaves in a short time for California where he will travel for Collier's Weekly, one of the foremost publications of the country. The trip will be a pleasant one and will combine just enough business with pleasure to make the trip a delightful one for Mr. Brown.

Cowan-Bland Wedding.

Friends in this city and elsewhere have received handsomely printed cards of invitation reading as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cowan request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Eva May, to Mr. H. J. Bland, Wednesday evening, November twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred and six at eight o'clock, 215 Brunswick street, Wilmington, N. C."

FROM STATE CAPITAL

Judge Purnell Hears Contempt Rule in Case From Wilmington Court.

CHANGE IN NEWSPAPERDOM

Mr. W. P. M. Turner of Wilmington, Succeeds Mr. W. J. Martin on Raleigh Times—To Investigate State Corporations.

(By Southern Bell Long Distance Phone.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—Judge Purnell in the United States Court to-day gave a hearing in a contempt case brought against D. J., J. K. and Rufus Register, of Columbus county, charged with violation of an order of the court restraining the parties from cutting timber from certain "Green Swamp" lands involved in the suit in the Federal Court at Wilmington, entitled New Jersey and North Carolina Land and Lumber Company against Gardner-Lacey Lumber Company. Robert Ruark, Esq., of Wilmington, appeared for the prosecution and Col. J. C. L. Harriss, of Raleigh, for the defendants. J. K. Register was the only respondent present and made affidavit that his father was too old and infirm to come to Raleigh and that his brother was taken violently ill in Wilmington on his way to the hearing. Final action in the matter was deferred by Judge Purnell until December 3rd.

Announcement is made in the Raleigh Evening Times this afternoon that on December 1, W. P. M. Turner, formerly of Greensboro, but for the past two or three years city editor of the Wilmington Messenger, will succeed William J. Martin, as city editor of that paper. Mr. Martin retires to devote all of his time to a large correspondence at the State capital for a number of State papers.

All companies, associations and orders doing business in this State under charters from the State of North Carolina are to be examined during the next month or two by Insurance Commissioner James R. Young. The Commissioner made this announcement this morning. The start was really made Thursday in Charlotte wren the condition of the Peoples' Benevolent and Relief Association, the oldest colored organization in the State, was investigated with the result that the charter was canceled and a receiver appointed to wind up the business of the concern. It is expected that there will be some "rattling of dry bones" as a result of the general examinations, not so much by putting companies out of business as by a general improvement in methods of management.

Governor Glenn returned this morning from the National capital, where he was called on business which combined personal and State affairs.

Mr. W. W. Willson, Grand Chancellor of the North Carolina Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias has returned from Clarkton, Bladen county, where he attended the first district meeting which he pronounces very successful. He says Pythianism is in an exceptionally flourishing condition in all parts of the State, the growth of membership being very rapid. Already during the present year the increase of membership is fully 500 with two districts not yet reported.

A statement just made with reference to the status of the movement for rural public libraries shows that 1,432 libraries has been established through State aid. These libraries contain about 137,556 volumes and are accessible for about 120,000 children. The State has paid out in this movement $14,320 from an appropriation total of $15,000.

To Try the Bloodhounds.

Constable W. B. Savage, Deputy Sheriff John Smith and others will go out to Castle Haynes this morning with the bloodhounds recently purchased by the county for a trial run after one of the "trusty" convicts at the stockade there. Constable Savage has the keeping of the trained dog in this city and the two puppies are being trained by Superintendent J. R. Hardee, at the County Home. Mr. Hardee has had much experience with bloodhounds at the State penitentiary.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

It was announced from Washington last Monday that it was learned from official sources that President Roosevelt's message has been completed and printed and is ready to be transmitted to Congress when that body assembles in December. As, however, the first few days of the session will be taken up with matters of organization, it will not be forwarded until a few days after the convening of Congress.

What the message will contain is a matter of spirited discussion in Washington. Though the principal recommendations as given by correspondents, are officially denied, yet since it is the practice to restrict very closely the official emission of news in this particular, and as there are circumstances tending to credit the report it gains very general acceptance.

The recommendations in brief are said to be as follows:

A system of progressive taxation upon large inheritances.

Government supervision by license or otherwise of all corporations besides railroads engaged in interstate business.

Federal legislation to correct and reduce evils of divorce.

Publicity of campaign expenses and inhibition against corporation contributions.

Greater protection of railroad passengers and employes by adopting the block system and restriction of hours for employes.

A more elastic currency system to prevent monetary stringency.

Lastly, revision of tariff will not be recommended.

Comment upon the reasons for omitting recommendations as to tariff revision inclines to the view that a special session will be called to consider this one topic next Spring. It is thought improbable that the most important topic of all in the above list would be lightly passed over were it not intended to give it a more serious consideration later.

Why it should be pased over at all is accounted for by the fact that it was desired by the Administration to be consistent with official pronouncements during the Congressional campaign; also, by the probable desire of the President to continue in his campaign against the abuses of corporations.

The recommendation as to progressive taxation of inheritances was foreshadowed in his speech last spring at the laying of the corner stone of the Congrsssional office building. It is said that he has taken judicial advice upon the subject and is convinced that Congress possesses the constitutional authority to impose this tax. Inheritance tax laws are in operation in nearly thirty States of the Union, and such a tax was passed as a Federal measure during the Spanish war, but discontinued thereafter.

Of course, the President will add to his message his observations on the Panama Canal, during his visit on the Isthmus, unless he wrote it all in advance.

THE CRIME OF A STATE.

When the Democratic Legislature meets at Raleigh in January it must make good by establishing an institution for the reformation of wayward youth. Boys and girls are not criminals till their judgment is mature and their habits set in evil ways. While they are young they are impressionable for good or evil, and the State should provide an institution for educating and teaching honesty and industry to unfortunate boys and girls who start on a downward career for lack of opportunity, because of their surroundings, or mayhaps from necessity. It is the highest duty of the State to give them a fair chance in life when they cannot otherwise get it.

No State can boast of its civilization that does no care for its unfortunate insane and has no humane plan for the betterment of youth who are growing up in ignorance, vice or crime. To place an impressionable boy or girl in the guard house, chaingang or penitentiary with confirmed criminals makes the State criminal and that is all there is to it. Instead of corrective methods for boys and girls, the State which punishes beginners in crime along with confirmed villians and hardened convicts is simply steeping them in crime. If any State had a determined, well defined policy to convert youth into criminals it could not adopt any surer plan than to bunch them in with incorrigible thieves, murderers and crimnals of all descriptions.

Wayward youth should receive sympathy and mercy in the courts and the benevolent, protecting care of the State. The first aid to criminals is the mercilessness of a court, and the savagery of the law is to consign youthful beginners to the ranks of veterans in immorality and crime. We have had enough of that for North Carolina. No more of it! To deliberately continue it after the Legislature meets in January will cast ignominy upon the State and perpetrate a stigma from which we already revolt.

The Star takes it for granted that the Legislature will establish—not a "Reformatory," but a Home for Youth, and when it is done, the one or more institutions of the kind should provide a thorough system of moral inculcation, education, and industrial training Moreover and emphatically, the State's humane institution or institutions should be placed in charge of humanitarians, not "keepers" looking for a place as a political reward. Such positions are not jobs for the mere jobless, but for expert humanitarians and trainers.

If North Carolina establishes a Home for Youth in 1907, it will begin for the Good Old North State an epoch that will bring conscious satisfaction and pride to her people from the sweep of the Atlantic to furthermost slopes of the Blue Ridge.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—In spite of James J. Hill's high standing in the financial world, his assertion that credit is better than money, has not been well received by our grocer.—Washington Post.

—The list of world's fair cities lengthens almost every day. Dublin was one of the latest additions. Now Seattle is placed upon it. One of these days Panama or Colon will be added, with a unique attraction.—New York Tribune.

—Our legislators should act as wisely and prudently next Winter as if the parties were evenly balanced in this State. By so doing they will deserve and receive the approval of the people and will enable our party again in 1908 to sweep the State by another overwhelming majority.—Chatham (N. C.) Record.

—Poor's manual for 1906 states that at the close of 1905 the mileage of completed railroad in the United States was 217,341. The capitalization of 212,624 miles was $14,563,199,931, or $68,433 a mile, stock being $6 741,956,825 and bonds $7,425,261,901. The average freight rate per ton per was 3.79 per cent. or less than ever before; the average dividend rate 3.27 or more than for many years. The average freight rate perton per mile was 784 thousandths of a cent; the average passenger rate 2,028 cents per mile. The expenses in 1905 were 67.49 per cent. of the gross earnings. —Baltimore Sun.

—One of the objects of the railroad policy entered upon by the country and one of the main ones of the rate law is to prevent great combinations of railroads. Billionaire Harriman appears to think, however, that he is not bound to respect that law in particular or any other one that is contrary to his purpose. This presupposes that he is pretty sure that by hook or crook he van avoid the law without harm to himself. It is just that sort of thing that is increasing the ranks of the Socialists daily; that is making radicals of men who otherwise would be of the most conservative character in their advocacy of any public policy.—Columbia Record.

—The Pullman Car Company, within a few years, in addition to 8 per cent. dividends paid on a capitalization of $74,000,000, largely water, we believe, has accumulated a surplus of $35,000,000. The directors on Thursday voted to distribute this sum as a free gift to the stockholders in the form of new stock, thus increasing the capital of the company to $109,000,000 on which it was further voted to continue paying 8 per cent dividends. This scheme, it will be seen, will enable the company to profess inability to reduce to the traveling public the cost of occupying seats or sleeping births in first class cars. Yet some folks wonder why the public has a hostile sentiment toward monopoly —Boston Herald.

Made Happy For Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Alban's, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over 60 years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no others. **

Miss Janie Williams, of Fayetteville, who has been a guest of Miss Martha Williams on Masonboro Sound, returned to her home last Tuesday, to the regret of friends here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Van B. Sands, who has spent the Summer on Masonboro Sound, will return to the city by the end of the month and will spend the Winter quietly as a guest of the Colonial Inn.

Miss Margaret Walker's friends will regreat to know that she will soon go to visit Miss Julia Tucker, in Henderson, N. C. Her friends will miss her very much and will be pleased to welcome her on her return.

* * *

Mrs. Claude B. Denson and her son, Mr. Claude B. Denson, of Raleigh, are in the city as guests of Mrs. Denson's sister, Mrs. John C. James. Mrs. Denson came to attend themarriage of her nephew, Mr. George P. James.

The Misses Amy and Louise Harlow entertained their card club on Thursday evening. Pretty decorations and tempting refreshments were pleasing features of the evening's pleasures and the guests were charmingly entertained.

Miss Fannie Hines Johnson, of Raleigh, will be welcomed to Wilmington Wednesday by numerous friends who are anticipating her visit with a great degree of pleasure. She will be the guest of Miss Sadie Williams on South Fourth street.

A movement is on foot to organize a Current-Events club by several young ladies of this city. The intent of the projectors and the object of the club is cultivation and improvement and much interest is felt in the outcome of the undertaking.

The appearance of Miss Florence Davis, in "The Player Maid," at the Academy of Music to-morrow will be greated by many of Wilmington's society people and evening dress will probably be a noticeable feature of the costumes of the audience.

Miss Annie Gray Nash of Tarboro, N. C., a charming daughter of Mr. Samuel S. Nash, who is pleasantly recollected by many here, arrived last evening on a visit to her relative, Miss Anita DeRosset and will be welcomed by many who will be pleased to receive her.

Miss Elizabeth .Hurkamp, a very charming young lady of Fredericksburg, Va., who has been a most attractive guest of Miss Martha Williams at Halcyon Haall, will return t o her home on Tuesday, very much to the regret of many friends who have showered her with attractions.

Miss Margaret Gibson was hostess of a very enjoyable tea on Friday afternoon, complimentary to Miss Hurkamp of Fredericksburg. Miss Gibson who is a most charming hostess, received her guests graciously and the tea will long be remembered by the many who attended it.

Mrs. William Rand Kenan and Miss Sarah Kenan, who have spent the summer in travel which took them through Yellowstone Park, the great Northwest and into Alaska, have returned to the city after a delightful visit at Mamaroneck and New York, much to the gratification of their friends here.

Miss Essie E. Meares, of Linwood, N. C., who has many friends and relatives in this city, has been welcomed to Wilmington after a lapse of several years since her last visit. Miss Meares is here with her aunt, Mrs. Kate DeRosset-Meares, and will be a guest at the home of Mrs. DeRosset-Harris during the Winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marsden London, of New York, are expected to arrive in the city next Saturday on a visit of a few days to their relatives, Col. and Mrs. Thos. C. James. Mr. and Mrs. London were married in Orange, New Jersey, yesterday and are South on their bridal trip. They will receive a most cordial welcome to Wilmington.

Miss Mary Northrop charmingly entertained Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. William Walter Love, nee Miss Betty Johnson. The Northrop home received additional touches of beauty by decorations of smilax and chrysanthemums and the many guests departed carrying pleasant recollections of the entertainment complimentary to Mrs Love.

Little Misses Emily Polk Davis and Lucy Murchison were the pretty little ribbon children of the Peck-James wedding party. Little Miss Emily got the thimble from the bride's cake and will no doubt save it for use on a trousseau in the dim future, while little Miss Lucy has the pleasure of just missing the silver shilling.

It was a pleasure to the friends of Miss Isabel Rountree to welcome her home last week after an absence of many weeks. Miss Rountree spent the summer months in the Berkshire Hills, at Shadow Brook, one of the handsomest estates of this beautiful country. Before returing to Wilmington she spent several of the weeks of Autumn in New York.

The marble for the monument to the Revolutionary heroes of the lower Cape Fear has arrived and will soon be erected. The unveiling services will probably be held before very long and will be very impressive. The Colonial Dames have worked long and hard and a happy day it will be to them when the monument is completed.

Miss Julia Parsley was hostess of her card club on Thursday afternoon and a most pleasant afternoon was spent by the guests. Tasteful decorations of handsome chrysanthemums gave an additional touch of beauty to the well appointed home. Refreshments were served and the guests departed carrying with them pleasant recollections of the first of the card club meetings of the season.

Mrs. Burruss Corprew gave a small but very beautiful tea Tuesday afternoon at her home at Edgewater in honor of the Misses Margaret and Elovine Burruss. The color scheme throughout the house was white and yellow and the profusion of chrysanthemums in these colors lent a most artistic effect to the rooms. Only the young unmarried friends of the hostess were invited on this occasion.

"The ribbon girls were Misses Anne Dewey Chambers, Frances Osborne and Catherine and May Cobb, the latter of Lincolnton. the bridesmaids, Misses Annie Wilson and Florence Thomas, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Willoughby E. Chambers and E. J. Parrish. The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Chambers and the best man Mrs. James F. Wright, Portsmouth, Va. They have gone north on a wedding trip.

Preparations for the appearance of The Princeton Glee Club in this city on Christmas night is receiving much attention from ladies who are interested in the club. Patronesses are being invited for its appearance which will be one of the pronounced society features of the holidays. Young gentlemen from this city who are attending Princeton this season are: Mr. Herbert Latimer, Mr. Empie Latimer and Mr. Lawrence Sprunt.

Friends here have received the following invitation:

Mr. and Mrs. Paris Horton Walsh request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter
Kate Emma
to
Mr. David Clarence Marshall on the evening of Wednesday the twenty-first of November, nineteen hundred and six at half past five o'clock
Grace Methodist Church
Wilmington, North Carolina.

Society is greatly interested in the attitude taken by William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., in the Marlborough marital clash. While sympathizing with his daughter, and, it is stated, approving her course absolutely, he has declined to give any expression of opinion in the matter and in every way shown his desire to assist the Duke and Duchess in keeping their troubles from the public. The possibility of the divorce proceedings being conducted in secret in New York is due it is said to his suggestion that such a step be taken.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Williamson entertained quite a number of their friends on Monday evening, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of their marriage. Their guests were the friends of their early married life who were charmingly, but informally received. The idea of the wooden wedding was admirably carried out and tihed ecorations of pretty flowers were simple, but effective. Beautiful refreshments were served and the evening was one of very great pleasure to the hosts and their guests, bringing to mind many pleasures of five years ago.

The formal opening of the Country Club for the season was held last Tuesday afternoon at which Mrs. Charles S. Granger and Mrs. J. Victor Granger were hostesses of a most attractive tea given complimentary to Miss Elizabeth Hurkamp of Fredericksburg, Va. The attendance was unusually large and the hostess assisted by their guest of honor added greatly to the pleasure of club members, who gathered about them in groups making the afternoon a very informal one. The links were tried by some of the enthusiasts after the tea and the tennis courts were not neglected by the devotees of the game.

Friends here received the following neatly engraved invitation to the marriage of one of Wilmington's popular young gentlemen:

Mr.and Mrs. Benjamin Greene Paschall

The marriage last Tuesday evening of Dr. Thos. H. Wright to Miss Rebekah Chambers, of Charlotte, is of interest to many in this city. Dr. Wright is affectionately known here in his old home as "Tom Pott" and has many friends who rejoice with him in his happiness. A Charlotte paper says of the marriage:

"The marriage last evening of Miss Rebekah Chambers and Dr. Thomas H. Wright at the home of Mrs. J. L. Chambers, was a quiet but pretty home event. Rev. Martin D. Hardin, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. The wedding took place in the handsomely decorated library, Miss Sarah Jones rendering the wedding music.

At six o'clock Tuesday evening, Capt. John Van B. Metts and Miss Josephine Sheppard Budd will be married in Petersburg, Va. The marriage is one of unusual interest because of the popularity of the couple, the bride-elect having visited here and won for herself a warm place in the in the hearts of many who will give her a most cordial welcome as a bride. Capt. Metts left last evening for Petersburg and will be followed to-night by his father and sister, Capt. James I. Metts and Miss Eliza Metts. Mr. R. Aubrey Parsley, Mr. Harold M. Chase, Mr. Thomas H. Wright, Mr. John B. Peschau. Mr. George Davis and Mr. Edwin A. Metts. Those who will leave next Monday to witness the marriage are: Mr. and Mrs. Junius Davis, Miss Alice Davis, Miss Belle Anderson and Mrs. Edwin A. Northrop.

Thursday evening was a pleasant realization of the promise contained in the following unique invitation:

You are cordially invited
To assist
Mr. John M. Coin
In administering the last rites of bachelorhood
Messrs. J. Van B. Metts and R. Aubry Parsley
Thursday evening, November Twelfth
Nine to ——
220 South Third Street
Stag.

Mr. Coin is a most lavish and agreeable host and his guests spent a very pleasant evening, replete with sparkling repartee. Sumptuous refreshments were served and the host was ably assisted by his guests in giving the Third degree to the gentlemen who are soon to join the array of Benedicts. Those present besides the guests of honor were Mr. Edwin A. Metts, Mr. Cameron F. MacRae, Mr. John J. Blair, Mr. J. O. Carr, Mr. Clayton Giles, Jr., Mr. T. H. Wright, Mr. Richard Bradley, Mr. R. A. Williams, Mr. W. R. Sullivan. Mr. J. C. Causey, Mr. Louis Hall, Mr. William C. Crow, Mr. George Davis, and Mr. Uel M. Robinson.

It was a singular coincidence that the wedding days of two sisters should fall on the same dates, just one year apart. Such was the case with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. George P. James.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, to celebrate the first anniversary of their marriage gave a ver pleasant entertainment last Tuesday evening to which were invited the friends who constituted their bridal party one year ago, and those who were to be of the bridal party of Mr. and Mrs. James on Wednesday evening. The event was one of the neatest of the season, every little detail receiving such care as would add to the pleasure of g uests and effectiveness of the pretty scene. The color scheme was the most skillfully carried out in the decorations for which quantities of very handsome chrysanthemums were used and in the pretty ribbons leading from a large Jack Horner's pie on a center table to the seat of each guest at the banquet tables. The place cards were linked with rings for the ladies while pretty horse shoes were attached to those for the gentlemen. A beautiful supper, in courses was served; at given signal the guests pulled the white and pink ribbons and from Jack Horner's pie came pretty souvenirs which will long be cherished as a memento of Mr. and Mrs. Davis' first wedding anniversary.

The Misses Margaret and Lucy Bridgers and the Misses Elovine and Bessie Burruss were the guests of honor at a bridge whist party given last Wednesday by Mrs. George S. Briggs at her beautiful home at Edgewater near Norfolk, Va. Bridge whist was played and the first prize, a handmade handkerchief, was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Burruss, while the consolation, a brooch, was drawn by Mrs. Peter Warwick. Mrs. Briggs' guests were Misses Bessie, Elovine and Susie Burruss, Misses Margaret and Lucy Bridgers, Misses Fannie and Loulie Wilson, Miss Many Leigh, Miss Mary Paul Masi, Mrs. F. L. Sandoz, and Mrs Peter Warwick. Miss Urith Green and Mrs. Burruss Corprew.

Mrs. Corprew received the callers, who, after being introduced to the guest of honor, were taken in charge by Miss Helen Rogers and Mrs. F. W. Curd. The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. Charles Wood and Mrs. Armand de R. Myers and in the pleasingly decorated dining room Mrs. Leigh Williams and Mrs. George Wood poured tea and chocolate. Dainty refreshments were served to the callers, who moved freely through the rooms or gathered in groups around the charming hostess lending a thoroughly informal atmosphere to the "Tea" which will be long remembered as one of the prettiest given this season, as we judge from the society notes of Norfolk papers. There were more than 50 of Norfolks most prominent society young people as Mrs. Corprew's guests, some of whom were: Miss Mary Hunter, of Warrenton, N. C., Miss Marjorie Stalon and Miss Susie Hitch, who are very pleasantly remembered here.

Clark-Bellamy.

The marriage of Miss Sue Clark and Mr. Marsden Bellamy, Jr., in Tarboro, on Wednesday evening was of interest to a large number of friends. From "The Southerner" we quote: "The local social event of the season thus far, and probably for the entire period, was the marriage of Miss Sue Clark to Mr. Marsden Bellamy, Jr. There was more than the mere pagentry that attends such functions, one of the most charming of girls was going away, taken it is true by a clever gentleman to his home, where he is highly regarded.

"The Church Calvary was filled with friends to witness the ceremony. The bridesmaids entered by twos in the following order: Miss Rena Clark and Miss Carrie Darden, of Newsome, Va.; Miss Alice Borden, of Wilmington, and Miss Mary Howard; Miss May Tayloe, of Washington, and Miss Gottlieb, of Baltimore; Miss Duncan Winston, of Edenton, and Miss Darden, of Newsome, Va. The bridesmaids' gowns were white dotted net over taffeta, and they carried large bunches of yellow chrysanthemums tied with white tulle. Miss Nan Clark, maid of honor, wore yellow crepe and carried white chrysanthemums.

The groomsmen were Messrs. Chesley Bellamy, of Wilmington, and Sam Clark; Ed Taylor, of Wilmington, and R. M. Rawls; Ben Jackson, of Wilmington, and Geo. Pennington; Jack Bellamy, and Harry Crosswell, of Wilmington. The best man was Dr. Harlee Bellamy, of Wilmington.

The bride entered the church on thearm of her father. She was attired in white chiffon cloth, trimmed in real lace, wearing tulle veil caught up with a wreath of orange blossoms- carrying a shower bouquet of brides' roses and lilies of the valley.

Immediately after the ceremony an elegant reception was given at the home of the bride, which was attended largely. Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy were the recipients of numerous and beautiful presents. They left on the 7:30 train for a tour of Northern cities and upon their return will reside in Wilmington.

The bride's traveling gown was a tailor-made suit of dark blue cloth with hat to match. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and candles presented an inspiring appearance.

The Coccia Italian band of Washington, D. C., rendered beautiful and inspiring music during the reception.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marsden Bellamy, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. de Rosset, Dr. and Mrs. Ed Wood, Mrs. John D. Bellamy, Mrs. Robert Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williamson and Miss Lilla Bellamy, of Wilmington; Mrs. W. A. Price, of Waycross, Ga.; Mrs. Dan Denny, of Atlanta, Ga., Mr. John Hadisty, of Maryland; Mrs. Dave Tayloe, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt and Miss Julia Moore, of Washington, N. C.

Mr. Robert Rawls gave a stag dinner Tuesday evening in honor of the gentlemen in attendance on the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grimes Clark gave an elegant luncheon in honor of the bridal party, after the dance on Tuesday evening. The luncheon was served in courses.

A TURKISH LEGEND.

Why the Much Married Man Got to the Mosque First.

Some years ago, when General Tewfik Hussein was the Turkish minister at Washington, he objected to the curious questions the newspaper interviewers asked him about the harem. One interviewer, however, told the representative of the sublime porte a funny story about Brigham Young and his many wives, and it induced the minister to reciprocate.

"There is a Turkish legend," he said, "to the effect that if a man prays seven consecutive mornings alone in the mosque for good luck it will come. Near St. Sophia mosque, Constantinople, a poor man lived who tried to carry out the injunction; but, when he kneeled, to his chagrin he always saw another man who had arrived first. The fourth morning he could restrain himself no longer and cried out: 'What is the secret of your getting to the mosque first? I get up early and lose no time.' The other man asked, 'How many wives have you?' When he answered 'One,' the fortunate man said: 'You can never get to the mosque earlier than I, for I have four wives. When I wake up one brings me my clothes, another gets my shoes, a third prepares my bath, and the fourth cooks breakfast. The result is I lose no time. Now, my friend, go at once and marry three other wives, and you will know the secret of my arriving first at the mosque.'

"The poor Turk followed the advice, and very soon he knew why the man with four wives got to the mosque first—he stayed there in preference to staying at home."—Leslie's Weekly.

LONDON PUNCH.

One Occasion When the Proprietor Wanted It Stopped.

The introduction of Sir Francis Burnand to the staff of Punch led to an unusual incident. The Bookbuyer tells the story. Mr. Burnand had given up his profession of law and was devoting himself to writing. It occurred to him that a burlesque on the sensational novel of the day and printed after the manner of the London Journal might make a popular hit. He proposed his plan to the editor of Punch, who at once accepted the idea.

The first installment came out, illustrated by Gilbert, Du Maurier and Keene and reproduced in Journal fashion. It "took" at once and became the talk of the town.

The day of the first issue the senior proprietor of Punch was ill in bed. The number reached him with the Journal burlesque folded on the outside. At first he thought a Journal had been sent him by mistake, but when he discovered that the page formed a portion of Punch he did not stop to read it, but sprang out of bed at once, dressed and hurried to the office.

"Stop Punch!" he cried, bursting into the room. "Stop Punch! You've got a page of the Journal in the form!"

It took considerable explanation to satisfy him that some dreadful mistake had not been made.

This was Mr. Burnand's first appearance on the Punch staff. The next night Thackeray took him to the weekly dinner and introduced him:

"Gentlemen—the new boy."

Killing Time.

To read for either instruction or amusement is commendable, but it is not so for the sake of killing time. Late in life, after his fortune had been made, a successful merchant, Mr. S., took a young man into partnership. Entering the office on a dull day in the dull season, the millionaire found his partner yawning over a book. "What's that you're doing?" Mr. S. asked. "There's nothing else to do, so I'm reading," was the answer. "Nothing else to do? Reading?" the great merchant repeated in a tone that expressed wonder, amusement and scorn. "When you've nothing else to do don't read. Think!"

Imaginary Disease.

The British Medical Journal says that only an imaginary remedy will cure an imaginary disease, which is true to the old maxim, "Similia similibus curantur." It continues: "This may be condemned by the righteous as quackery, and quackery of a kind it undoubtedly is. But if the real end of medicine is to cure can she, when legitimate means fail, afford to despise anything that relieves suffering, even though the suffering be imaginary?"

Forgiveness.

"I can forgive, but I cannot forget," is only one way of saying, "I will not forgive." A forgiveness ought to be like a canceled note, torn in two and burned up, so that it can never be shown against a man. There is an ugly kind of forgiveness in the world—a kind of hedgehog forgiveness shot out like quills.

Newbro's Herpicide

The Original Remedy that "kills the Dandruff Germ."

THE HUNTERS CAME TOO LATE!

Their Faithful Dog has pointed out the True Remedy to prevent Baldness, but the hunters came too late—Chronic baldness is incurable.

HERPICIDE A "HAIR-SAVER."

Newbro's Herpicide saves the hair by destroying the germ or microbe that is now known to be the cause of dandruf, falling hair and baldness. In chronic baldness the hair follicles are completely atrophied, causing the scalp to shrink and shine: little can be done in such cases except to save the remaining "fringe," and this is well worth saving for it offers some protection against the cold.

The "Hair Grower" is a fallacy. It requires but a slight knowledge of Anatomy to know that the hair gets its life and strength from the hair- papilla at the bottof of the hair follicle, and the papilla in turn gets its nourishment direct from the blood: therefore nature is the only true hair grower. There are enemies of hair growth that cause hair loss and baldness. Invisible microbe growths enter the sebaceous glands situated at the top of the hair follicles (Dr .Sabouraud of Paris, says the mfcrobe usually enters the scalp in youth) where one colony after another is established, until finally after months and sometimes years, there is dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. The Sebum also solidifies, causing dry, lustreless and brittle hair. Destroy this microbic growth with Newbro's Herpicide and protect the hair against reinfection and it will grow as nature intended.

Newbro's Herpicide is a Twentieth Century Remedy. Its mission is to teach new rules for scalp cleanliness, new rules for hair preservation and to supply a germ destroying solution that will enable careful people to have beautiful and luxuriant hair. Almost marvelous results follow the use of Herpicide, and if it does not do more than we claim for it, your dealer will refund your purchase price. As a hair dressing it is truly exquisite on account of its dainty and refreshing oder, which is characteristic. It contains no oil, grease or sedimentary substance, neither does it stain nor dye the hair.

Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

..WHAT A LEADING DRUGGIST SAYS! Herpicide has been a success with us from the start, owing to two considerations. First, because it is essentially a meritorious article and does the work that is claimed for it and every bottle sold makes a friend, who publishes the glad tidings to other friends, and an endless chain is thus created for Herpicide.

Secondly: You fill your contract to the letter and treat your agents squarely and cleverly, and every agent in turn takes pleasure in pushing the goods for your personal account. We have never sold a proprietary article which was more satisfactory. (Signed) W. H. Torbert, Dubuque, Iowa.

GREAT MEETING AT WALLACE.

Big Revival in Progress at Methodist Church There.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wallace, N. C., Nov. 17.—This place a long time by the revival services a long time, by the revival services now in progress at the Methodist Church, of which Rev. W. Franks Sandford is pastor. Evangelist Luther B. Bridgers, of Marion, S. C., is doing the preaching. He is bold and fearless in his denunciation of sin, clear and logical in arguments. The altars have been crowded with men and women seeking the power of higher spiritual life and the spiritual pulse of the people has been greatly quickened. A number of conversions have been reported.

Colonel Thruston Dead.

Captain James I. Metts, of this city, yest erday received a letter from Dallas, Texas, notifying him of the death in that city of Col. S. D. Thruston, who lived just after the war at Southport. He was a gallant soldier, always loyal to the Lost Cause and his death will be learned of with great regret here.

INJURED IN WRECK

Edwards, of Darlington, S. C., were also reported slightly injured.

The train was made up of engine, tender, combination baggage and mail car and two passenger coaches. The forward coach and the passenger coach were derailed by the accident, but the mail car and engine held the track and passed over the trestle without injury. The rear coach went down the embankment on the other side of the trestle and the 35 passengers on board were thrown violently to the side of the car lowest. The greatest injury to any one of them consisted mainly of bruises and cuts by flying glass. Engineer G. C. Jones was at the throttle of the train and applied his emergency brakes at the earliest moment. As soon as the passengers had collected themselves they began to extricate one another and all were soon out of the debris. Mail Agent Herman Meredith, of Wilmington, was in charge of the mail car and escaped without injury, but all on the train were more or less shaken up.

The damage to the track and trestle were slight. The damage to the equipment was principally to the rear coach, which was smashed up to some extent. With the exception of that one, the wrecking train sent out from Wilmington soon had the train in order again and at 10:30 o'clock it proceeded on to its destination. Immediately on receipt of the information of the wreck in Wilmington a relief train was made up in charge of Supehintendent Phenneger, of the Wilmington District, with Drs. Bulluck and Pride J. Thomas on board to give temporary attention to the injured. Dr. Edwards, of Darlington, was aboard the train and did what was possible for the sufferers with the limited means at hand until the arrival of the relief train. The wrecking train from Wilmington followed and traffic was resumed about 1:30 o'clock. The train from Columbia, due due here at 1:45 was not delayed, it had to wait for connections a short while at Florence, anyway.

The relief train brought the injured who cared to come, back to Wilmington and they were given treatment at Dr. Bulluck's office in the Southern building. The traveling men went to their rooms at The Orton, which they had left only a short while previous and others were sent to their homes in carriages. Mr. Stallings, of Columbia, was perhaps worst injured. He had a number of cuts and bruises about the face, but was able to leave for his home on the afternoon train yesterday. Mr. Catlett, of this city, was on his way to Artesia to pay off some hands at the settlement of the Carolina Trucking Development Co., at the time of the accident and was thrown violently from a reclining position in the coach. He had a bad cut over the eye and his shoulder was giving him much trouble last night. Some of the large tendons were torn loose and there is probably a slight dislocation. Conductor Jones was perhaps next worst injured. He was in the aisle of the coach at the time and suffered a number of painful bruises and cuts.

A large crowd gathered at the depot upon the arrival of the wreck train as all sorts of distorted reports of the accident had reached the city. The hospital ambulance was in waiting for any of the more seriously injured, but it was hardly necessary for any of the passengers to go there. Many of the Wilmington passengers were confined to their homes during the day, but it is believed that all will be able to get out in a day or two.

PERISHABLE VEGETABLES.

Held to Be Fruit Under Ruling of Commerce Commission.

Washington, Nov., 17.—The inter-State Commerce Commission today announced that the term "fruit" in connection with the free transportation that may be jurnished to necessary caretakers of such merchandise, includes perishable vegetables when shipped under conditions that render caretakers "necessary." The Commission holds that transportation of such "necessary" caretakers, includes their return to point from which they actually accompany such shipments.

The Launberga Towed Up.

The Norwegian barque Launberga, which was recently purchased with her cargo of nearly a million feet of lumber by Mr. L. H. Skinner, of this city, has been towed up to the city and will discharge the cargo at Skinner's marine railway.

Artistic Home Furnishing.

At The Orton for a few days commencing tomorrow, Monday, Messrs. Minch & Eisenbrey, of Baltimore, will show a very complete line of attractive home furnishings, which include the choicest productions in furniture, carpets, rugs, lace curtains, draperies, etc. The ladies of Wilmington are especially invited to see the exhibit which is in charge of Mr. R. S. White.

STANDARD OIL IS NOT AFRAID

Directors Give Stockholders Assurance of Its Ability Under Investigation.

SAFE LEGALLY AND MORALLY

Guage of Battle With Roosevelt Administration Accepted With Confidence—Expects to be Vindicated In St. Louis Proceedings.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 17.—The directors of the Standard Oil Company issued a circular to-day to the stockholders of the company saying that the company's position is unassailable from both a legal and a moral standpoint. The directors declare themselves confident that in the proceedings now instituted the company's position will be successfully maintained and vindicated. The circular follows:

"26 Broadway, New York,
Nov. 15, 1906

"To tre Shareholders of the Standard Oil Company:—

"Regarding the suit this day commenced in the United States court at St. Louis, Missouri, in which it is sought to prevent the Standard Oil Company (of New Jersey) from holding any stocks of other companies, your directors are entirely convinced that the company's position is unassailable from both a legal and a moral standpoint. We are confident that in the proceedings which will follow the company will successfully maintain its position upon the merits and vindicate it before the public and the law.

"While your directors feel that there is no adequate reason for such a suit, either in the organization or the conduct of the business, yet, under the circumstances it is perhaps better for your interests and the business interests of the country that the controversy should be removed to the judicial atmosphere of the courts—in whose integrity and wisdom every citizen should have the fullest confidence—where mere allegation must give way to legal proof.

"The present organization was formafter an exhaustive consideration of the legal and business problems involved. It has existed unchallenged for many years. Everything relating to it has been a matter of public report and at every step the utmost care has been observed to conduct the business honestly and fairly and in caccordance with not only the spirit, but the technical requirements of the law.

"The legal organization of your company is of essentially the same nature and character as that of the other important industrial interests of the country, and the continuous growth and expansion of its business have been legitimate and normal. It is not to be lightly assumed that there is to be a reversal of the wheel of progress or of a destruction of the foundations of the great industrial bus- of the country.

"You may be assured that in this litigation as in all matters affecting the company, your directors will see that the proper steps are taken to protect your interests.

"By order of the Board of Directors.

"C. M. PRATT, Secretary."

Findlay, O., Nov. 17.—Attorney Thom H. McConie for the Standard Oil Company said to-day that the indicted officials of the company, M. C. Vilas, H. P. McIntosh and J. M. Robertson, all of Clevelanl, were in News York city attending a meeting of the company's directors. He said that they would be in Findlay Monday or Tuesday to plead to the indictments chargdnb violations of the Valentine anti-trust law.

—Jackson, Nov. 16.—There were many here to attend the largely advertised sale of the Westcott-Tranchard property and Northampton and Hertford railroad. There was bidding and bidding, Sheriff H. L. Joyner being the crier. The court's decision as to the ratification of sale will tell the outcome. Rumor has it that the railroad was purchased by Westcott. There were many buyers at the sale but whether any money passed is still to be seen.

The father of James Taylor, Jr., who shot and killed Isaac Carter, a negro at Duquesne, a suburb of Pitts, burgh last Monday night, and who has since escaped arrest, yesterlay offered a reward of $1,000 for the capture of his son. "I want my son brought to justice and I will gife $1,000 to the person who captures him or gives information leading to his arrest," said Mr. Taylor.

DETERMINING LEVELS.

Method by Which Every Man May Be His Own Surveyor.

A simple way of roughly determining levels, and one which can readily be practiced by any one and which has the advantage of not requiring any special apparatus, is by means of a spirit level and a board with a straight edge. The way to go about it is this: First determine on two points the levels of which you wish to know and drive stakes into the ground. Then take a board with a straight edge and tack it to a tree, if one happens to be available, in a line with these two stakes. Put the board at such a height that you can readily sight over it and carefully level this board by means of the spirit level. Then sight it over toward one of the stakes, having some one at that stake who will, by means of a small piece of paper, locate the point at which your line of vision cuts it—in other words, where a line projected from your sighting board would strike the stake. Make some sort of mark at this point and then sight to the other stake in the same way and mark the point where the line would strike it. By measuring distances that these two points are above the ground you can get the difference in levels with reasonable accuracy. For instance, if your line of vision has cut one stake eight feet from the ground and the other one five feet from the ground, then obviously the difference in level is three feet, or, in other words, the vicinity of the stake on which the mark is five feet from the ground is three feet higher than the other stake, and you will have a three foot fall from draining from this point to the other.—Farming.

THE ELOQUENT NUDGE.

An Incident Illustrating a Trait In Woman's Nature.

"Do you see the woman walking in front of us there?" asked the man with the fashionable tie to the friend who was strolling up Broadway with him. "Do you notice anything particularly striking about her? Nothing, except that she is very well dressed? That's what I would say. Now, I'll bet you half a dollar that when she passes the three women walking just ahead of her all three will nudge each other simultaneously."

The woman behind was walking faster than the three in front and she soon passed them. The three women looked her over from foot to head, then nudged each other with their elbows as if possessed with the same thought.

"How did you know it?" inquired the friend as the other pocketed the half dollar.

"I didn't know it," was the reply. "If I had it would have been taking an unfair advantage of you to bet. But I was reasonably certain of it. There is a certain indescribable something in some women's manner, appearance and carriage that causes all other women to nudge each other at sight of her. I couldn't tell you just what it is, but I'm ready to put up a wager on it every time. The nudge is simply a part of women's sign language which means something that cannot be put into words, but which every other woman understands."—New York Press.

The Word "Crank."

Crank in the sense of an eccentric person is a new word. The very first written instance of crank in the modern sense that could be found for Dr. Murray's dictionary was in the reports of the trial of Guiteau, President Garfield's murderer. Guiteau's reference to somebody as a crank gave the word a vogue that has gone on spreading. But the adjective cranky was known in 1787 as meaning sickly (the German "krank"), and to Dickens in the senses of cross and crochety. In all its meanings it springs from the root idea of crookedness, as does crank in its sixteenth century sense of a deceitful trick, as in "quips and cranks."

The History of Tacitus.

The entire history of Tacitus, as we have the work, was regained from a single copy found in the fifteenth century in a monastery of Westphalia. That we should owe the works of this author to one copy is a remarkable circumstance, for the Emperor Tacitus, who claimed to be a descendant of the historian, had copies of the history placed in every library of the empire and each year had ten copies transcribed for presentation to scholars. All, it seems, perished, save the Westphalian copy.

The Great Difficulty.

"One-half of the world's happiness is solved when a person learns to mind his own business."

"Yes, but it's the other half that causes the most trouble."

"What's that?"

"Getting other people to mind theirs."—Home Notes.

No Kick Coming.

Mrs. Jones—Do you appreciate what that is you are eating? Tramp (with his mouth full)—No'm! Mrs. Jones—Well, that is angel cake with wine jelly and whipped cream. Tramp—Oh, well, anything tastes good when a feller's hungry, mum!—New York Press.

The Best Literature.

The best literature of our day is not in fiction. It is in poetry, in biography, in history and in criticism.—London Sphere.

How Bees Gather Honey.

A bee gathers honey by the aid of its "trunk," "lower lip" or "tongue," which is used as an instrument for extracting the nectar from flowers. The "tongue" of a bee is not, as was once thought to be the case, a tube through which the juice is sucked, but is built more after the fashion of a fine broom. With this broom the bee brushes or laps the honey or honey material from the flowers, leaves, etc., and passes it down a groove in the upper surface of the tongue to the mouth proper. From that point the juice is conveyed through a minute orifice into the "first stomach," vulgarly called the "honey bag." The honey bag is a real chemical laboratory, where by some mysterious process which has not yet been explained by science the juices are converted into pure honey. When the chemical process of transforming the nectar into viscid honey has been completed the bee disgorges it into one of the cells made for the purpose of a receptacle. For years the microscopists and the entomologists have been studying the bee's laboratory, but its workings are at present among the unexplained mysteries.

Horses and Grass.

A famous veterinary surgeon declares that grass beats all the drugs in creation as a cure for sick horses and mules. Horses should have a few quarts of grass daily from spring until fall, he says. The prevalent notion that it is harmful is idiotic and cruel. Grass to horses is the same as fresh vegetables and fruit to us. Their craving for it proves their need of it. Yet ignorant, unfeeling drivers yank them away from it as if it was poison instead of the life giving medicine it is designed by their Maker for them. When they gnaw the bark of trees or eat leaves it is because they crave grass and can't get it. Millions of bushels of grass go to waste yearly by the wayside which should be utilized for our noble, faithful, helpless, dumb colleague, the horse, thus making him healthy and happy. Summer visitors who hire horses should remember these facts and give the animals a chance to get at the grass by the roadside once in awhile.

The Plausible Lie.

We resent calumny, hypocrisy and treachery because they harm us, not because they are untrue. Take the detraction and the mischief from the untruth, and we are little offended by it. Turn it into praise, and we may be pleased with it. And yet it is not calumny and treachery that do the largest sum of mischief in the world. They are continually crushed and are felt only in being conquered. But it is the glistening and softly spoken lie, the amiable fallacy, the patriotic lie of the historian, the provident lie of the politician, the zealous lie of the partisan, the merciful lie of the friend and the careless lie of each man to himself that cast that black mystery over humanity through which we thank any man who pierces it as we would thank one who dug a well in a desert. Happy that the thirst for truth remains with us even when we have willfully left the fountains of it.—John Ruskin.

Faithful to His Friend.

Toole and Irving were friends from the days when they were both struggling beginners. On one occasion Irving was to be presented to Queen Victoria and was delighted at the honor. An officious court functionary took it upon himself to tell the player "not to mention this matter outside" lest other actors, such as Mr. Toole, might think that they should be presented too. "Let me tell you, sir," said Irving, "that Mr. Toole is not only a deservedly renowned comedian; he is also a truly Christian gentleman. Toole often saved me from adversity, perhaps starvation, when I was unknown. If John L. Toole is not worthy to be presented to her most gracious majesty, neither is Henry Irving. I wish you good day, sir!"—London Standard.

The Hyacinth.

The hyacinth has its name from Greek mythology. According to the story as told by Ovid, Hyacinthus, a beautiful boy, was the son of a Spartan king and the favorite of Apollo. Zephyrus, being envious of the attachment of Apollo and Hyacinthus, so turned the direction of a quoit which Apollo had pitched while at play that it struck the head of Hyacinthus and slew him. The fable concludes by making Apollo transform the body of his favorite into the flower that bears his name.

A man had sixty ducks for sale and divided them into two lots of thirty each. One lot was to be disposed of at three for $1 and the other at two for $1. In his absence his clerk sold the sixty ducks at five for $2, realizing the sum of $24. If sold according to instructions one purchaser would have got thirty ducks for $15 and the other thirty for $10, making $25 for the lot. What became of the missing dollar?

No Nonsense.

"The Elizabethan ruff is likely to return," said Ma Twaddles, looking up from the fashion paper she was reading.

"If he does," responded Pa Twaddles, with energy, "you set the dog on him. Do you hear?"

Wily.

"Oh," she said, "your conduct is enough to make an angel weep!"

"I don't see you shedding a tear," he retorted, and his ready wit saved the day.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—It is learned from Baltimore that Commissioner of Agriculture S. L. Patterson, who was operated on in a hospital there, is getting on nicely.

—Ethel, the eight year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Williams was fatally burned at Salisbury on Friday, her clothing having caught fire from an open fireplace.

—While out hunting near Chapel Hill, Mr. Claude Sykes shot at a bird and several shot struck Mr. Eugene Teer, the R. F. D. Carrier, who was traveling the road. One shot went through his ear while several went into his face and head.

—Roanoke-Chowan Times: We have been unable to find a single farm in Rich Square school district that can be bought. Several persons want to move into the district, but can find no farms for sale, not even at double the tax valuation.

—Rev. M. C. Walton, formerly of Burgaw, but recently of Elm City, has received a call from the Baptist Church at Nashville and has accepted the pastorate for the coming year. He filled his first regular appointment last Sunday morning and evening, preaching two excellent sermons.

—There are now in the pest house outside of Raleigh two smallpox patients, these being taken there Thursday by Sanitary Inspector Sale. One is a white man and the other a negro and both live in the southern part of the city, where they were found.

—Fayetteville, Nov., 16.—A meeting of citizens was held Wednesday afternoon when steps were taken to secure the school for girls which is to be established under the auspices of the Fayetteville district conference of the Methodist church. A committee was appointed to take the matter in hand.

—Roanoke-Chowan Times: The loss to the farmer in the vicinity of Rich Square from swine plague and hog cholera, will run up to many thousand dollars. Hogs continue to die in great numbers. Over half the number on the Times farm have died and several neighbors are as unfortunate.

—At a meeting at Morganton on Friday, of the Chairmen of the Election Board of Burke, Caldwell, McDowell and Alexander counties comprising the 34th Senatorial district to canvass the vote for Senators, it was found that B. F. Davis, Democrat was elected by 48 mapority; and W. F. Wood by a majority of 10 votes.

—About 15 bales of cotton unginned was burned Friday on the Hargrove farm in No. 5 township. Edgecombe county. The cause of the fire is unknown. The fire took place 10 minutes after the cotton picked during the day had been weighed and emptied into the gin house. The fire may have been incendiary or due to lighting a match accidentally applied. No insurance on either cotton or house.

—Tarboro, Nov. 16.—A branch of the American Society of Equity organized here recently, was in session to-day at the town hall. It selected Major C. W. Jeffreys as delegate with Henry Brown as alternate, to attend the national convention of peanut growers which will convene at Suffolk, Va., on the 20th inst. The peanut crop in this section is short. The Spanish peanuts are averaging only about 20 bushels per acre.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Nov. 17.—Thirteen dollar s and fifty-flave cent$ was the am unt of a fine imposed upon W. A. Stunkel, a plumber, by Police Justice Badger, yesterday for leaving a ditch uncovered and with out lights on north Saunders street. The defendant claimed that he left his foreman, with some laborers at work at the ditch late in the afternoon with instructions to fill it before they left it.

—Raleigh News and Observer: Buffalo & Yeargan's cotton gin saw mill, two and a half miles from Garner, were destroyed by fire Tuesday night about 8 o'clock. Several thousand feet of lumber and about $1.000 worth of cotton were also burned. The total loss is estimated at $2,000, with no insurance. The fire is thought to have started from a light had in the gin house before closing down for the night, as it was discovered soon after the men had left.

—Jackson, Nov., 16.—There was many here to attend the largely advertised sale of the Westcott-Tranchard property and Northampton and Hertford Railroad. There was bidding and bidding, Sheriff H. L. Joyner being the crier. The court's decision as to the ratification of sale will tell the outcome. Rumor has it that the railroad was purchased by Westcott. There were many buyers at the sale, but whether anything definite, money pass-—Louisburg, Nov. 16.—Mr. Henry Williams to-day while guarding convict$ who were working on the road five miles out of town on the Halifax road, shot and seriously injured Williams, a negro, while he was trying to escape. The guard called on the negro to halt, but he did not do so. Whereupon the guard fired at him with a charge of buckshot, which scattered over the back. The negro was serving a sentence of five years for stealing a mule. His injuries are not necessarily fatal.

—All of the rails to complete the track across the Atlantic and North Carolina railway bridge between Morehead City and Beaufort were laid on Friday and the completed track was in place Saturday night so that trains could cross. This week frieght will be carried over in cars and December first is named as the day when the regular passenger schedule for trains will be established, making Beaufort the eastern terminal of the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad.

—Hig Point, Nov., 16.—C. M. Collier, a young man working for the High Point Hosiery Mills, tried to take his own life today about noon, at his boarding place on Thurston street by drinking a bottle or two of laudanum. It was impossible to tell just how much he did take, as there were two empty bottles there from which he had taken a dose before. The young man, who is about 25 years old, hails from Durham, and has been married four months. He told his wife that he took the drug with suicidal intent.

—About noon on Friday Miss Helen Palmer, the young daughter of the late Dr. Palmer, of Hookertown, in Lenoir county, was bitten by a cat that had gone mad. She was immediately taken to Kinston and then taken to Richmond, for treatment. Several weeks ago the cat was bitten by a dog that no one knew to be afflicted with hydrophobia. The dog has since died, and until Friday the cat had shown no signs of rabies. Besides biting the child the mad cat bit a puppy which, with the cat, has since been killed.

—Washington, Nov., 16.—Work is progressing very rapidly on the Raleigh and Pamlico Sound and Washington and Vandemere railroads. The railroad bridge for the Raleigh and Pamlico Sound which crosses Pamlico river below Castel Island, will be completed in about one month, and in the course of a few more months trains will be running on the Washington and Vandemere. Captain Bradshaw, the contractor, with a gang of ninety four convicts and a corps of surveyors, is making rapid progress and hopes to have this road completed at an early date.

—Winston-Salem, Nov. 16.—A special from Mt. Airy says that Miss Bethania Ashby who was shot and seriously wounded last Friday night, while out driving with Mr. Jack Turner, is doing nicely and her recovery is now expected. Elmer Brim and Graham Trotter, prominent young men of this town, who were arrested on the charge of being implicated in the shooting, were given a hearing before a magistrate Wednesday and bound over for court. The two gave bond and were released. William Graves, who, it is alleged, was with Brim and Trotter, at the time Miss Ashby was shot, is not here now. It is reported that he has gone West.

—Rocky Mountain, Nov., 16.—While crossing Washington street on his way to supper last night, Mr. B. F. Arlington, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Rocky Mount, was struck down and run over, the wheels passing over his chest. He was taken to his home near by, where Dr. Speight did everything possible to alleviate his sufferings. It was found that several of his ribs were broken, besides other internal injuries. One of his lungs has since congested. After running over the unfortunate man, the negro driver kept straight ahead and succeeded in getting away, but was afterward caught up with, and this morning was fined fifty dollars in the Mayor's court for reckless driving.

—Fayetteville, Nov. 16.—After many delays and great tribulation the electric power from the Buckhorn plant of the Cape Fear Power Company is soon to be sent pulsating into this city. The date for the current to be turned on is March 1. This assurance ha$ been given in the last few days to the manufacturers of this city, who contemplate using the powe,r by Eugene Maxwell, manager of the Cape Fear Power Company, for the Electric Bond and Share Company of New York, which corporation purchased the plant at the recent receiver's sale at Pittsboro. Mr. Maxwell was here himself to confer with the manufacturers and others who are desirous of using the power and gives the positive assurance as to the power being ready by the date above named. It was also learned while Mr. Maxwell was here that it was the intention of the new owners to enlarge the capacity of the plant as now erected, which is estimated at 4,000 horsepower, by the development of other and contigiou$ water powers.

Rexall "93" HAIR TONIC

In these days when youth is the moving factor—when man has made his mark at thirty-five and is dubbed a "has been" at forty; when business houses pension the man we used to call "middle aged," rather than allow his lagging influence to intrude upon the modern commercial rush—a bald head is a serious handicap.

In the social world it is equally bad for a man, while for a woman—it is fatal.

Few people can afford a bald head. Even those who can—those who are fixed socially, financially and matrimonially—have no wish to do so. But afford it or not, thousands of us are bald, either partially or wholly.

What caused baldness—whether an inherited tendency; whether through undue mental effort, sickness, dandruff or other scalp disease—makes no difference. What we want is HAIR.

Millions of dollars have been spent in vain efforts to grow hair on bald heads. Other millions have been spent in an effort to restore faded gray hair to its natural shade, and still others to banish dandruff. And still dandruff declined to disappear; hair refused to grow; lost tints of brown, blonde and auburn failed to return.

All this, however, is of the past. Failures have give place to success. A real hair tonic has at last been found.

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC is a positive cure for all hair and scalp troubles. It is not sticky or gummy, will not thicken on hair, does not become rancid, has no disagreeable odor. It is clean, agreeable and pleasant to use.

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC

Cures all cases of dandruff, falling hair, irritation of the scalp, baldness, premature fading, scanty growth, and all those annoying affections of the scalp which scientists have found to be due to the presence of microbes. REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC restores the hair by first killing the microbes, by supplying a nutritive food element upon which the injured hairs may feed and regain health and strength by cleansing the scalp and strengthening the hair follicles. It assists nature to restore the color by making the hair healthy and enabling it to draw its own coloring matter from the pigment glands in the scalp. It is not a dye.

Remember that dandruff is proof positive that microbes are at work on the roots of your hair. Then is the time to buy a bottle of REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC and begin treatment. Don't wait until you are bald.

"GREATLY ADDS TO BEAUTY."

"I can most highly recommend Rexall '93' Hair Tonic as the best of preparations for the preservation of the hair and the promotion of its healthy growth. It not only preserves the hair and stops it from falling, but it gives it a gloss and sweetness which greatly adds to its beauty. Every woman should use Rexall '93' Hair Tonic as a dressing to the hair if she desires to keep her hair in the best condition."
—Mrs. J. C. HALL, Palmyra, N. Y.

THE STORY OF REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC.

Before placing REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC on the market we realized that we had a formula of exceptional value, and yet we determined to give it a thorough trial before we offered it as a Rexall preparation. We therefore wrote to one hundred druggists in as many cities, asking the name of one customer who suffered from a disease of the hair and scalp. To each of these customers we sent three bottles of the hair tonic and asked them to try it and report upon it.

THE RESULT: Five reported no answer, two reported adversely and NINETY-THREE sent enthusiastic reports of the remedy and gave details of the splendid effect in each individual case.

We therefore selected "NINETY-THREE" HAIR TONIC as the name of this preparation, which we believe to be the best. Could any other name be so significant of merit? Any test have been more fair? Any results more encouraging?

In buying REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC you take no chances whatever. If after a trial you are not more than satisfied we will promptly and cheerfully refund your money.

IT'S IN THE DRAFT.

The secret of the fuel-saving qualities of this Buck's hot blast heater lies in the draft construction. It is so made as to allow large quantities of heated air to pass over the upper surface of the burning coal, thus supplying oxygen to the rising gasses, which are then converted into heating power.

Simple, isn't it? And yet it's new principle in stove building—not to be found elsewhere.

This stove will reduce your coal bill nearly one-third.

Let us tell your of its many advantages.

BOILED POTATOES.

Why They Should Always Be Cooked In Boiling Water.

Pare potatoes with a sharp vegetable knife just as thin as possible, for that part of the tuber lying close to the skin is richest in mineral salts, and put each potato as peeled into a pan of cold water to prevent discoloration. Have ready meanwhile a kettle of boiling water and when the peeling process is complete take the potatoes from the cold water and, covering them with boiling salted water, set them on the range, covered, to boil. Twenty minutes usually suffice, but to test them use a skewer or fork, and when they can be pierced easily remove at once from the fire, pour off all the water and set them on the back of the range, uncovered, to steam dry, assisting that process occasionally by a slight shaking of the kettle.

If one asks the reason why potatoes should always be cooked in boiling water try the following experiment for proof: Take two cups, in each of which has been put a teaspoonful of ordinary starch. Pour over one a quarter of a cupful of boiling water and over the other the same quantity of cold water and observe the result. The one over which the boiling water was poured stays in shape, a compact mass, while the one with the cold water dissolves into a soft paste. The potato is largely composed of starch, and from this trial any one may draw his own conclusions. If you wish a pulpy, watery potato use cold water, but if a dry, mealy, snowy ball that would delight the heart of Epicurus himself always use boiling water.

WEARING APPAREL.

The Tunic, the Toga and the Leather Dress of the Ancients.

Ancient wearing apparel was not cut to fit, as is our modern clothing. Having no definite shape of its own, it did not disguise the wearer's figure, and the grace and beauty of Greek drapery are dependent almost entirely on the perfect proportions of the figure beneath. The tunic worn by both Greeks and Romans was little, if at all, fitted to the wearer and when ungirded hung in folds all round, while the toga was little more than a sheet and was worn in all sorts of ways, according to the prevailing fashion. The Jews of old seem to have worn breeches, but the rest of their clothing seems to have been simply wrapped round them, for it was difficult for them to run or even walk fast without first "girding up their loins." The clothing of the northern races was probably always more of a fit than that of the southern, for they used leather, which does not lend itself to simple draping, but our ancestors probably wore an almost shapeless tunic belted at the waist.

Another striking difference is found in the gradual monopoly by women of the ornamental element in dress. Once masculine dress was by far the most splendid, and woman, holding an absolutely subordinate social position, had to content herself with humbler attire. As she has won her way to freedom and equality she has annexed not only the beautiful, but the extravagant elements of costume and left man to content himself with a condition of colorless utility.

Fish Swallow Sand.

Captains of fishing smacks in the North sea have found that codfish at certain times of the year take sand into their stomachs as "ballast." This, it would appear, is done when the fish are about to migrate from the shallow water covering the southern banks of the North sea to the deeper water farther north. It has been observed that fish caught on the southern banks just before the migration begins and those caught in the northern waters after it is completed have sand in their stomachs and that the sand is discharged after the arrival of the fish at the southern banks on the return migration. In proof of this it is stated that the sand found in the fish often differs in color and quality from that of the bottom where they are caught.—Washington Post.

Chile and Andes.

Two ways, Chili and Chile, is the name of our South American neighbor written. Chile is the Spanish and Chilean form. The name is commonly explained as an old Peruvian word for snow, the allusion being to the Andes. But "Chili" has also been identified as a native South American word, "chili," meaning cold, which would make it really the "chilly" country. As to the meaning of "Andes," there is plenty of choice. The word has been variously interpreted as signifying the haunt of the tapir, the region of copper, the home of the Anti tribe and the site of the "Andenes," Spanish gardens on the mountain terraces.

Necessarily.

Dinglebats—The oculist charged you $5 for taking a grain of sand out of your eye? That's pretty steep, isn't it? Himpsley—I thought so till I looked over his bill. It was for "removing foreign substances from the cornea," and, of course, that costs more.—Chicago Tribune.

Would Please Dick.

Mrs. Henpeck—If you marry Dick, you need never expect me to come to see you. Daughter—Just say that into the gramophone, won't you, please? Mrs. Henpeck—What for? Daughter—I want to give it to Dick as a wedding present."

Useless Test.

"Are you feeling very ill?" asked the doctor. "Let me see your tongue, please."

"What's the use, doctor?" replied the patient. "No tongue can tell how bad I feel."

THE IMMIGRANT SHIP.

Mr. Badenhoop Makes Correction as to Charlotte Incident.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 10. 1906.
Editor The Morning Star,
Wilmington, N. C.,
Dear Sir:—

In your issue of Thursday, November 8, there appeared an article taken from The Columbia State, in which I am mentioned as having filed complaint with the immigration authorities for not having been permitted access to the immigrants on the wharf. I do not know from what source The State obtained this information, but I wish to say that it is not correce.

When Mayor Rhett, of Charleston told me that I should have to leave the wharf. I asked his permission—which was granted—to explain my sudden departure to the immigration officials with whom I had previously been in conversation. These gentlemen were much surprised at the Mayor's action, but I filed no complaint either at that time or later in the evening with Gen. Sargent. The only reason I told him about it was that he might think I had neglected my duty.

In addition I wish to say that under no circumstances should I have done anything that might cause trouble. I wanted the landing of the Wittekind to be a success, and the more immigrant steamers follow her to Charleston or to any other Southern port, the better I shall be pleased. The South needs immigrants very much and with the proper class of settlers and laborers it will become the greatest section on earth.

It is a great pity that the law in its present form is so harsh toward what is often the best class of immigrants. I now refer to the contract labor law. This was passed upon the request of the labor unions in order to prevent wholesale importation of European laborers in cases of strikes and applied to those cases, the law is very just and good. But I am sure no member of Congress who helped to pass it expected that it would take such dimensions. I say that many of the best class of Europeans who would make fine Americans citizens, the class that came in past years and helped to make this country so great, are now kept away. The most valuable class, mechanics, as well as other people have steady employment and are well paid in Europe, and nobody cares to give up a reasonably good position for something uncertain in a strange country. "America" has an alluring sound to all people in Europe and we should get a different class of immigrants, if the better classes did not fear the ordeal of landing under the present laws.

Thanking you for publishing this statement, I remain.

Very Truly Yours,
H. BADENHOOP,

THE TURPENTINE TRUST.

Federal Attorney Collecting Evidence Alleged Combine.

(Special to Washington Post.)

New York, Nov., 15.—Energetic efforts are being made by the Federal government to clip the tentacles of what has come to be known as the turpentine trust, and the United States district attorney here is co-operating with the United States attorney for the Southern district of Georgia. The turpentine "combine" has its headquarters in the South and many complaints have been received by the government authorities concerning operations. It is alleged that a hard-and-fast agreement exists between the various constituent companies belonging to the so-called trust, and that the business and territory have been divided up in regular octopus fashion. A representative of the district attorney at Macon, Ga., it is learned, has been in conference with the district attorney here, and it is understood the government is hot on the trail of the concern.

It is intimated that the turpentine trust, so-called, is influenced and controlled to a greater or less degree by the Standard Oil Company, although government officials are disposed to be reticent on this phase of the question. It is known, at any rate, that Standard Oil interests in the past have endeavored to absorb the turpentine and rosin industries, but how far they have succeeded, if at all, remains to be disclosed. The determination of the government to dissolve the Standard Oil trust, if possible, by means of the suit in equity that is to be filed in the United States Circuit Court at St. Louis tomorrow, and its announced intention to make it hot for the Standard Oil Co., all along the line, appears to justify the opinion that the Federal authorities strongly suspect that intimate relations exist between the two enterprises.

No More Shoes Sent Out On Approval

AFTER DECEMBER 1ST.

At a meeting of the Shoe Dealers of this city, the following resolutions were adopted:

"That the present method of our sending out Shoes on approval is injurious to our business advancement, and it being self-evident to us that the same is abused and, believing as we do, that this can be adjusted in a manner satisfactory to ourselves and our customers, and, knowing as we do, that the only satisfactory way for a customer to fit him or herself, is to try his or her shoes on in the store, where the different widths and sizes and styles may be tried and a fit assured, and being desirous, as we are, that our customers be given the benefit of our study and knowledge of the Shoe business, we do hereby agree, that on and after the first day of December, 1906, we will not send out any shoes on approval in this city, that is 'Deliver to any person or persons for trial at their home or residence, or for their inspection or for an anticipated sale.'

"That as a guarantee of our good faith and intentions, we do hereby bind ourselves under a cash forfeit of $50.00, said forfeit to be paid, one-half to the informer and one-half to the association, upon conviction of our having violated or broken our agreement."

At The Theatre.

The theatre offers this week a return of Florence Davis, supported by Elliot Dexter in "The Player Maid," which will be the offering at the Academy of Music tomorrow night. This attraction has been praised by leading dramatic critics wherever it has been presented. "The Player Maid" was first produced at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, and has since been presented in all the leading cities of the country, meeting with the success and receiving favorable comments which entertainments of its calibre deserve. "The Player Maid" is almost in a class by itself—the even, smooth-running plot, the gentle, refined comedy, the beautiful costumes and elaborate scenec effects are a combination that make this entertainment one of those comedy creations that enchant the eye and ear at the same time. The story deals with a time and subject suggestive of the most pleasant scenes—the days of David Garrick in and around the old Drury Lane Theatre, London. The character played by Miss Davis is that Eleanor Hallam, an actress, who was at the head of her profession in those days. The plot is said to be founded on facts, and deals with the caprices of this fascinating young woman. The play is replete with witticisms and excruciatingly funny situations and offers the best this clever young actress and her excellent company the best opportunities to display their talents. One scene in particular that has been spoken of as original comedy creation is the one where Miss Davis pretends to be crazy in order to discourage a boresome admirer and drive him away, but to her horror she finds that this method only serves to cause him to present himself on the most inopportune occasions. It is a most exciting scene and one of the best parts of the performance. Miss Davis as the little madcap plays with the same ease and grace in the more quiet scenes.

Her support is exceptionally strong, including Elliott Dexter, a young actor who has gained distinction by his interpretation of the Earl of Roxuby, and it is said that his portrayal of this character is a masterpiece of comedy creation. Much credit should be given Miss Louise Malloy, a young Baltimore newspaper woman, who wrote "The Player Maid," for she has given Miss Davis a vehicle that one not only enjoys while witnessing the performance, but remembers it long afterward, embracing as it does all the elements that go to make an entertainment for those wishing the best in theatricals.

The Washington Post critic wrote as follows of the Ben Greet Players who will be seen at the Academy of Music in "The Merchant of Venice":

"Aside from the intrinsic value of the powerful drama, Mr. Greet's experiment is extremely valuable as an educational factor along two distinct lines. It gives us a glimpse of the stage methods of the great dramatist's time, when the destiny of the English people was taking its first tangible shape—an epoch of transdecental genius which brought forth no fruits richer than the dramatic creatinos and philosophy of Shakespeare—and it also shows what effect can be produced by a good play, interpreted by capable and well trained players, even with the barest possible stage environment. Of the players, too much cannot be said in praise of their scholarly and impressive attainments as delineators of the Shakespearian drama. The cast was so evenly balanced as to completely justify the idea of not mentioning on the programme the names of the respective roles. All suggestions of the star system are eliminated and each performer strives to play his part with the sole purpose of depicting the character as it should be, without reference to the others, whether the part be one of greater or lesser importance in the general scheme of the drama.

This performance is for the benefit of the Wilmington Public Library and is under the auspices of the North Carolina Serosis.

THE PEANUT.

The Macon Telegraph notes that the peanut crop in Georgia is worth a million a year, but adds that Virginia leads all the States in the acreage, bushels and value of the insignificant peanut. The "Old Dominion" gave to the world in 1899 3,713,347 bushels, representing 116,914 acres and $2,261,148. North Carolina comes next with 95,856 acres, 3,460,439 bushels, netting a revenue of $1,852,110. Alabama is next to Georgia, ranking fourth, with 78,878 acres, 1,021,708 bushels, valued at $583,223. The Southern States produce 90 percent. of the crop, which made us nearly seven million and a half richer in 1899, from sales alone by the bushed. The peanut has crossed the Atlantic and found its way into the English, German and French markets.

It may not be generally known that the peanut industry in the South is the direct outcome of the War between the States. Before the war peanuts in the South were grown for home consumption only. But when the "Yanks" were marching through Virginia they got a taste of "Johnny Reb's" parched peanuts and liked them so well that when they returned home they began to clamor for more. This created a demand and made the peanut an article of commerce.

The peanut is a native of Africa and it is an interesting coincidence that the war, which set the black man free should have created the peanut industry. It may also be mentioned that the peanut, like the colored race, has materially improved its condition by contact with Southern ovilization. The African pea is much smaller and not so delicate in flavor. It was formerly imported in large quantities but the demand long since disappeared and it now finds its market principally in France, where it is converted into olive oil.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

NAPOLEON OF BAR TO DEFEND THAW

Noted California Lawyer, Assumes Direction of Famous New York Case—Defense Will be "Unwritten Law"—Reported Fee of One Hundred Thousand.

(New York Herald, Nov., 18.)

Delphin Michael Delmas, leader of the bar on the Pacific slope, was retained yesterday to defend Harry Kendall Thaw, indicted for the murder of Stanford White, the architect. Mr. Delmas entered into final arrangements as to his retainer at 11 o'clock at No. 120 Broadway, with Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the defendant. Between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon he was in consultation with his client in the Tombs and had agreed with him on the line of defense, which will be justification of his deed and the demanded enforcement of the "unwritten law."

Mr. Delmas will be the counsel in the Thaw case in every particular from the selection of the jury to the examination and cross examination of witnesses. For this purpose he has been admitted to practice in the State of New York, on the motion of former Judge Augustus J. Van Wyck, entered last Friday in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

Will Locate in New York.

Regardless of what may be the outcome of the trial, Mr. Delmas will abandon his residence in California and continue the practice of his profession in New York. He was brought into the Thaw defense by a coterie of Californians backed by the suggestion of Joseph McKenna, Associate Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States and by John G. Johnson, of Philadelphia, regarded by many te foremost corporation attorney in the country and who three weeks ago was named as an advisory counsel in the Thaw case, which position he refused.

The California lawyer will dominate his trial throughout and with the full consent and understanding which has been entered into with Clifford W. Hartridge, the attorney of record, and the personal counsel of Thaw. Notwithstanding the number of names which have been printed from time to time, as having something to do with the case, the only lawyers who will take part in the preparation and the actual trial, outside of Mr. Delmas will be Mr. Hartridge, Mr. Glealson and Mr. Peabody. As to the retaining fee, the estimate by Eastern lawyers who know the Western lawyer's ability, is that the understanding yesterday morning could not have been far short of $100,000, but of that the principal would say nothing. He admitted in the Yale Club at 10 o'clock last night that he had been retained for the defense and expected to go to trial on December 3.

BIG ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN.

The Massengale Advertising Agency Secures Services of Two Well Known Experts in Their Line.

Preparatory to the season of 1907, the staff of the Massengale Advertising Agency is being enlarged, two prominent advertising men from other cities having already accepted good places with the agency and are now busily engaged in laying out some of the big campaigns for the coming year.

W. H. Benjamin, a well known eastern advertising man and rate expert, has come from Philadelphia to take charge of the agency's office work. Mr. Benjamin was with the Ayer Advertising Agency for 18 years and was for four years with Powell & Armstrong. He is well known and popular all over the United States.

Another recent addition to the Massengale staff is Jeff Palmer, for many years traveling solicitor for the Chattanooga News. Mr. Palmer is now engaged in similar work for the Massengale Agency. He has a reputation all over the South as a business getter.

With these two additions to the staff and other enlargements and improvemnts in the service, now being installed, the Massengale Agency is placing itself in a position to give better service to its patrons than ever before and the year of 1907 promises to be the best in the agency's history.

Kidney Troubles Attack Wilmington Men and Women, Old and Young Alike.

Kidney ills seize young and old alike
Quickly come and little warning give
Children suffer in their early years.
Can't control the kidney secretions.
Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.
Women worry, can't do daily work.
Robust men have lame and aching backs
Old folks weak, rheumatic, lame.
Endure distressing urinary ills.
The cure for man, for woman or for child
Is the cause—the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.
Cure all the varied forms of kidney suffering.
Wilmington testimony guarantees every box.

J. T. Ebert, of 515 South Sixth street mattress maker, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family. My little girl complained of severe pains in the small of her back, and the kidney secretions were dark and full of brick-dust sediment. We were very much worried about her and when I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills I went up to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box and gave them to her. Since using them she has improved wonderfully and is a different child. Her kidney secretions cleared up, she does not complain of her back, and in fact Doan's Kidney Pills gave her new life. The Joke Was on the Stud

When Dr. Nathan Lord was dent of Dartmouth college he used drive about in a dilapidated, old fashioned contrivance. The students became tired of seeing the concern and, though Dr. Lord knew of this, he clung to the old calash. One night a group of the young men hauled the thing out of the shed where it was kept, took it several miles down the road toward Lebanon and hid it in a spot where it was concealed by dense foliage. They were just about to depart, well satisfied with the tiresome job, when the curtain which completely enveloped the front of the calash was suddenly pushed aside and the well known face of President Lord appeared. "Now, gentlemen," he said, "you may draw me back again."

Homes Under the Ground.

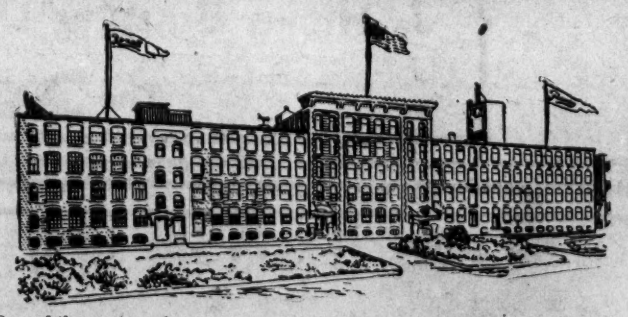
In the salt district in Cheshire, England, the brine has been pumped so continuously out of the earth that the land has settled very considerably. The houses naturally sink with the earth, and in some of the streets in Northwich only the roofs are visible. The houses are inhabited, although the rooms are underground. In a great many cases additional stories have been added, so that by living in the upper rooms the residents may have some light and air. The roadways sink, too, but are kept up to the proper level by the government.

He Laid.

"Don't waste your time in clipping off the branches," said the woodman to his son, "but lay your ax at the root of the tree." And the young man went out and laid his ax at the foot of the tree, like a good and dutiful boy, and then he went fishing. Truly there is nothing so beautiful as filial obedience. —Strand Magazine.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; hich flowed so copiously from Mr. acket's lungs that death seemed ery near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful ough had brought me at death's oor, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astounding result that after taking four bottles I was completely stored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.



One of the greatest business successes of the year has just been achieved by the United Drug Company in the opening of its new laboratories in Boston. The United Drug Company is a co-operative company owned by 2,000 of the leading druggists of the United States. Eight hundred of them were in convention at Boston in September, at which time they formally opened the new plant where the Rexall Remedies are made.

This building is 371 feet long, six stories high, and contains 150,000 square feet of manufacturing floor space which is filled to overflowing.

The gigantic success and rapid growth of this compny are attributable to one thing—enthusiastic co-operation, obtained by most able management and the application of the highest business principles and undeviating integrity in all matters pertaining to medicine.

The company was organized and started in business on the 14th of March, 1903, showing that it is not yet four years old. That this company has grown from 30 employes at the time it started to its present numebr of 600, goes to prove that the company's claim that co-operation, properly handled and backed by good friends will produce the most rapid success of any other system that could be employed in getting business.

The United Drug Company has been a constant advertiser in more ways than one. It is generally conceded that they are the largest users of newspaper space in the United States and in addition to that they have annually held a convention of their stockholders, bringing them to Boston and entertaining them and their wives for two or three days. This year the entertainments were as follows: On Tuesday the visitors inspected the manufacturing plant of the Rexall Remedies in Roxbury, after which a sumptuous luncheon was served. The week's festivities wound up with a banquet in the Hotel Somerset, at which about 800 stockholders were present. Among the speakers were William L. McElroy, the Rev. S. Parks Cadman and Walter M. Chandler, of New York City, and Marshall P. Wilder told some of his funny stories.

THE COTTON MARKET.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

New York, Nov., 17.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points which was a poor response to the cables. The failure of the expected storm to materialize in the southwest caused selling by some of yesterday's buyers but after some irregularity the market firmed up on covering due to the bullish week-end figures, the strong spot advance, and some unfavorable crop reports from Alabama and Georgia and during the middle of the morning reached a new high level with January selling at 10.37 or 12 points net higher. Futures closed steady.

Receipts cotton at the port yesterday 65,019 bales against 67,654 last week and 50,568 last year. For the week 410,000 bales against 412,648 last week and 391,182 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 10,115 bales against 13,186 last year and at Houston 10,369 bales against 14,140 last year.

THE MODERN HOTEL.

A Product of the Times, It Is Made by the Guests.

Among the silly and absurd articles appearing from time to time concerning hotel and tavern keeping, one tells us again and again how the modern hotel is shown to disadvantage when compared with the inns of colonial days. In these articles the writer dilates and expatiates on the hospitality of the old time tavern, and the cold, indifferent and almost cruel treatment received from the hands of the modern hotel man. Of course every one knows if he will drop sentiment for a moment and give the subject a little sober reflection that the modern traveler, tourist or hotel guest would absolutely refuse the accommodations afforded by the inn of a hundred years ago. The only advantage of a hotel of those times lay in the fact that the lack of material comforts drew from the traveler a warmer fellow feeling and greater sociability—a condition in which one man was more his brother's keeper than prevails today. Again, the travel by coach and the small number thrown together, en route or at the hotel, made closer acquaintanceship not only possible, but far more desirable than in our day of big hotels and big crowds.

The modern hotel is a product of the times. The wants, desires, whims, fads and, on top of all these, the imperative demands of those who travel have made the hotel of today what it is from the standpoint of food, accommodations, method of service and management and from every point of view. The hotel keeper of today responds to the bidding of the guests. One might almost say of the man and woman who travel: "Here is your hotel. You have planned it, furnished it. You have outlined its methods of management, and it is what you believe should be comprehended in the modern hotel."

The colonial tavern, which would not be tolerated for a moment in our days, was adapted to its times. To speak of it as being superior to the modern hostelry is to claim that the old stagecoach, which left you more weary and worn at the end of a hundred miles than the palace coach does today at the end of a thousand miles, was a superior vehicle of travel to those used on the modern railroad.—Hotel World.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

No one is defeated until he gives up.

Hard times has a good many relatives. It is the twin brother of the blues.

That man has failed who has not been able to keep a good opinion of himself.

Self control will succeed with one talent where self indulgence will fail with ten.

What the superior man seeks is in himself. What the small man seeks is in others.

There is no disgrace in unpreventable poverty. The disgrace is in not doing our level best to better our condition.

Poverty itself is not so bad as the poverty thought. It is the conviction that we are poor and must remain so that is fatal.

Confidence is the Napoleon in the mental army. It doubles and trebles the power of all the other faculties. The whole mental army waits until confidence leads the way.—Success

The Hazel Tree.

A curious survival of the days when the magicians of Europe sought indefatigably for the philosopher's stone is the superstition that attaches to the hazel tree. The old alchemists used to make their divining rods out of hazel twigs, and they fostered the belief that it would mysteriously direct its owner to hidden treasures, if it was manipulated with the absolute faith that was required in all those occult enchantments of the middle ages. As time went on, the "rod of Jacob," as a branch of hazel was universally known, gathered new powers. Not only would it lead to the discovery of buried hoards, but it would also act as an infallible agent in locating runaway servants and escaped criminals. It was a sure guide to underground springs as well, and was an unfailing charm against the lightning.

Curious French Market.

There is a curious old market near Paris in which everything is sold at secondhand. Working girls can fit themselves out there from head to foot. As a writer says: Mimi can sell her old felt hat and buy a straw one, exchange her old dress for a new one and, if she likes, buy a steak and a salad for her dinner, a paper bag of fried potatoes, sweets and some flowers for her window. Democracy is king here, and no more attention is paid to the millionaire who is looking for something marvelous which he may pick up cheap than to the man with a wooden leg who wants a new boot in exchange for a dozen sardine tins, five gloves and a stocking.

A Parthian Shot.

"I hear," said Mrs. Gaddie, "that your husband's got a job as superintendent of a cemetery and you're going there to live."

"Well?" replied Mrs. Naybor shortly.

"Well, I was thinking it would be an awful ghostly and creepy sort of neighborhood."

"Perhaps, but the neighborhood will not be prying into our business."—Philadelphia Press.

Probably a Hopeless Case.

ROCK CLIFF LITHIA SPRINGS WATER.

READ WHAT ONE OF THE MOST NOTED CITIZENS OF SOUTH CAROLINA HAS TO SAY OF THE FAMOUS ROCK CLIFF SPRINGS WATER.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 24.

To Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Co.:

Gentlemen:—This will certify that I was severely afflicted with a serious case of erysipelas, that confined me to my bed for about six months or more, with daily attendance of my physician, and which eventually settled in my left leg and became so severe that a consultation of three physicians was held and the decision reached that the lower part of my leg would have to be amputated to prevent the disease extending to the upper part of my leg and body. I declined the operation and was advised to try Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Water. I engaged board near the spring and was advised to bathe my leg in the water, at the same time drinking freely.

This application soon soothed the pain, and for the first time in months previous I slept for about two hours. After a week's treatment, without any medicine or physician's help, I walked to the spring on crutches. I continued the treatment daily, and within two weeks was able to walk to the spring without crutches and in four weeks was able to walk home, a distance of 1½ miles, and resume my official business.

I was permanently cured by the use of the water, and take great pleasure in giving you this testimonial to the efficiency of the Rock Cliff Spring Water in the treatment of erysipelas.

MANY SCRIMMAGES ON THE GRIDIRON

Nothing to Nothing Game of Foot Ball Between Princeton and Yale.

FIRST TIE IN TWENTY YEARS

Princeton's Lightning Like Plays Lacking—Yale Would Have Won But Failed at Fancy Work—Other Games Yesterday.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 17.—Princeton and Yale played a nothing to nothing football game, the first time in nearly 20 years that neither eleven has scored.

The wearers of the Orange and Black had convedently epected to win, as the Princeton team this Fall was of the best product and so hopeful were they of ultimate success that odds of 5 to 3 were freely accepted just prior to the game that Yale would be defeated. But the Princeton eleven of to-day was a disappointment, the lightning-like plays which the coaches had been depending upon to confound the Yale boys were lacking, and E. Dillon, the wonderful little quarterback on whom such high hopes had been built, fumbled miserably. His dropping of punts would have resulted disastrously to Princeton had it not been for the fast work of Wister, Princeton's left end. This player was all over the field and his running down under kicks was little short of marvelous.

There were numerous tries at forward passes, delayed passes and onsides passes, but in a majority of cases they went wrong.

Princeton lacked a diversity of attack. She could not gain on fakes, neither could she pierce the Yale line with any degree of success.

Yale, on the other hand, was able to make consistent gains against Princeton's line and it looked as though the Blue must surely have scored a few minutes before the close of the game had they stuck to straight football, instead of attempting fancy plays. Near the finish Yale secured the ball in Princeton's territory near the center of the field. By line smashing in which Morse, Linn and Forbes made gains, Yale had the ball within a few yards of Princeton's goal line. A delayed pass was attempted, a Yale man was off-side and what looked like a possible touchdown for Yale, went for naught. Veeder attempted several goals from the field, but Harland who defeated West Point by his field goals, did not get close enough to a goal to try his usually sure foot.

Several penalties were inflicted by the officials, and each team suffered alike in this respect. Time was taken out twice because of injuries to Princeton players, but Yale did not ask for it in a single instance. Captain Dillon, of Princeton, was forced to retire from the game, as was also Harlan. In the last minute of play with Yale pushing the Princeton team steadily toward the latter's goal, Roome, Yale's great halfback, who had been incapatiated, trotted on the field. Yale supporters became almost frantic and yelled frantically for Roome, Roome, touchdown; touchdown," but just as the Yale crack was making ready to get into the lineup, the whistle blew, announcing the close of the game. The teams were on the field 77 minutes, which is probably a record game for shortness.

Carolina Defeated.

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—The football team of the Naval Academy to-day defeated that of the University of North Carolina, the score being 40 to 0. Last year the Naval Academy won by 38 to 0. The midshipmen played straight football using the new open plays freely and completely outclassing the visitors throughout the game. The playing of Dague, the midshipmen's right end, was a feature of the game. Among those who witnessed the contest was head coach Graves of the West Point training school.

Virginia Ties Washington.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Although Virginia outplayed George Washington University from every point throughout the game to-day the score resulted in a tie, nothing to nothing. Last year the University of Virginia worsted George Washington University by a score of 38 to 0.

The surprise which Virginia felt today in not being able to score was therefore all the more notable. The professional comment was that Virginia did not play as strong a game as she did in the preliminary game last Saturday. Johnson and Randolph for the Virginians carried off the honors of the game. The contest was witnessed by an unusually large crowd.

ACT REGULATING LIFE INSURANCE

Draft of Projected Laws to Come Before Legislature of 37 States.

CONGRESS ALSO MAY ACT

Rebates on Policies to be Prohibited—No Political Contributions—Act to Prevent Management of Companies Squandering.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Chicago, Nov., 17.—Members of the Insurance Commission who have been in session for the last week, drafting projected laws for the control of life insurance throughout the country completed their work today and adjourned.

Sixteen new laws have been drawn up, and it is believed by the commissioners that they will, if adopted by the various States, correct the greater part of the abuses in the management of life insurance companies. These laws will be introduced during next Winter into Legislature of 37 different States. T. E. Drake, the insurance commissioner for the District of Columbia, will submit the proposed measures to President Roosevelt in order that they may be mentioned in the forthcoming message of the President to Congress.

The proposed new acts may be summarized as follows:

A standard policy act which provides six forms of uniform policies for use by all life insurance companies.

An annual apportionment act which requires life insurance companies either to pay annual dividends or credit the amount earned to the different policyholders. This act limits the amount of surplus which the companies are permitted to retain in their treasuries.

An act prohibiting discrimination and rebating between agents and policyholders.

An act prohibiting corporations from acting as agents or life insurance companies.

An act regulating the election of the directors of mutual life insurance companies.

An act prohibiting the publishing of estimates and illustrations which misrepresent the terms of any policy, or the benefits or advantages promised thereby.

An act prohibiting life insurance companies from making any kind of a political contribution.

An act forbidding insurance companies from expending more than $5,000 for any specified purpose without the consent of the board of directors.

An act making the policy, the encompanies from paying any officer a salary in excess of $50,000 annually.

An act regulating the investment of life insurance company funds.

An act making the policy holder the entire contract between the intereded parties.

An act defining the status of the persons who solicit life insurance.

An act prohibiting life insuruance companies from issuing participating and non-participating policies.

An act regulating the disbursements of life insurance combinations.

An act regulating companies run on the assessment plan.

An act regulating the retirement of capital stock of life insurance companies.

STRIKE ON THE COAST LINE.

Switchmen at Waycross Went Out Last Night—Traffic Blocked.

(By Wire to The Monring Star).

Waycross Ga., Nov. 17.—All the switchmen in the Atlantic Coast Line yards went on a strike to-night and the railroad work here is at a standstill. Freight trains coming in over six roads are likely to block every track in the city before morning. The cause of the strike is said to be the discharge to-day of the night yard master.

True Bill for Embezzlement Against Federal Officeholder.

(By Wire to The Monring Star).

St. Louis, Nov. 17.—The Federal grand jury returned an indictment against Receiving Teller D. P. Dyer Jr., son of United States Attorney D. P. Dyer, this morning in connection with the shortage of $61,500 in the local sub-treasury. The charge against Dyer is embezzlement. The Federal grand jury was convened on Wednesdaw and at once began inquiry into the shortage of $61,500. When the inquiry was adjourned yesterday 33 witneses had been examined. Soon after the grand jury convened this morning a report of its finding was made to the court. Mr. Dyer was taken into custody, but was released on a bond of $10,000.

ELASTIC MONEY IN EMERGENCIES

Secretary Shaw Endorses Plan Formulated in Washington Past Week.

EVERY FEATURE SATISFIES

Mr. Shaw Glibly Gives Republican Congress Credit for Giving Country Gold Standard Previously Established by President Cleveland.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov., 17.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw today authorized the following statement on the subject of proposed money legislation:

"In his previous reports Secretary Shaw has recommended currency legislation, but has never recommended any particular plans to the exclusuion of others. He has been much gratified at the attention given the subject by chambers of commerce, by bankers associations, and by committees appointed by each. He has remained in the cabinet largely in the hope of securing some legislation on the subject but he has not, and will not, recommend details of legislation. That is the province of Congress, under such advice as it may deem wise to invite, or to which it may have the opportunity of listening. The Secretary will be pleased beyond measure if Congress will adopt every detail of the plan recommended by the recent committee of bankers and business men. He thinks Congress will have no difficulty in working out a plan thereby satisfactory to all, though in detail meeting the wishes in every particular of no one man, whenever it decides to legislate on the subject. When Congress decided to pass a tariff law the Dingley bill was promptly put on the statute books. When it decided to enact a gold standard measure, the act of March 14, 1900, was the quick result. When it decided to pass a rate bill, no unnecessary delay ensued. If it shall undertake to aid an elastic feature to our currency system the Secretary had no doubt of favorable results in short order. That such legislation is imperative, he thinks recent Treasury experiences make apparent. In his report he will strongly urge that something be done, and may suggest several methods for the consideration of Congress.

The Secretary of the Treasury being charged only with the responsibility of administering his Department under the aw it exists and of making report to Congress, will not assume the responsibility involved in recommending details of needed legislation. Th subject matter and the end necessary to be attained, he will fully discuss."

WANT ROOSEVELT OVER-RULED.

Secretary of War Asked to Suspend Discharge of Negro Troops.

Washington, Nov., 17.—Mrs. Mary Church Terrel, one of the leading colored educators of the country, a member of the District of Columbia school board, a graduate of Oberlin College, and a member of the Constitutional League, of New York, called upon Secretary Taft at the War Department today by direction of the League, and begged him to suspend until the President returns the execution of the order discharging without honor a battalion of the 25th Infantry at Fort Reno. In addition to this presentment from the Constitutional Leaguue, the Secretary also had before him a telegram containing resolutions adopted by the Republican county committee of New York also praying that the colored troops be given a hearing, and that meanwhile the execution of the order be suspended.

Secretary Taft pointed out to Mrs. Terrell that the action complained of was a presidential order. He said that he had already caused an inquiry to be made of General McCaskey, the Department Commander, at San Antonia, as to what had been done towards executing the order and he further intimated that he might cummunicate with the President upon the subject.

San Antonia, Tex., Nov., 17.—Six negro soldiers who were brought to Fort Sam Houston from Brownsville subsequent to the disturbances caused by members of the Twenty-Fifth Infantry were discharged without honor yesterday. They had been confined at the post here since August 25. Their discharge is in pursuance to orders issued by President Roosevelt disbanding the battalion of which the negroes were members.

CASE AGAINST L. & N. ENDED.

Not Crime to Prevent Employes From Joining Union.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Louisville, Nov. 17.—In the United States Circuit Court to-day Judge Evans sustained a demurrer raised by the Louisville & Nashville railroad company in the case of the order of Railroad Telegraphers against the railroad. The effect of the decision is to throw the case out of the courts. The order of Railroad Telegraphers brought suit against the Louisville and Nashville railroad for an injunction to keep the road from preventing its employes from joining their union. Judge Evans holds that the action of the railroad is not a crime and that section 10 of the act of Congress of June 1, 1896, is unconstitutional.
